Secretary of State Dean Acheson (left) stands at a rostrum in the Library of Congress Auditorium, Washington, May 31, as he reports to Congress on his recent cold war strategy talks in London. He said the growing power of Russia can only be met by organizing the military might of the West into "balanced collective forces." He appealed for support of such a course. (AP Wirephoto.)

Acheson Session Leaves G.O.P. Cold

Feeling Is Secretary Left Lot of Questions Unanswered

Washington, June 1 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson's question and answer session with Congress pleased Democrats but left Republicans cold today.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, told reporters he thinks Acheson's appearance helped cement friendly relations between the State Department and Congress.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the G.O.P. floor leader, said, on the contrary, he doesn't think that yesterday's unusual meeting in the Library of Congress auditorium "changed anything, one way or the other."

Rep. Acheson (R-Ill.) said Acheson left a lot of questions unanswered.

Acheson's real test of his relations with the legislators will come with an appearance before the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees tomorrow on the foreign arms program, Wherry said.

"Acheson just used Congress as a window dressing for a radio speech," the Nebraska senator complained. "His talk was so general and the questions and answers so general that nobody learned anything new."

"He says we are going to go into full partnership with the North Atlantic Treaty nations. We'll find out what we are going to have to give up and what will cost us when he unfolds the foreign arms program, I suppose."

Scouts Will Hold Session at Mohonk

Ulster-Greene Troops Are to Hold Camporee at Duck Pond

An estimated 400 or 500 Boy Scouts and leaders from Ulster and Greene counties will assemble at Lake Mohonk Friday afternoon, June 2, for the Rip Van Winkle Council Camporee.

The scouts will set up a three-day camp in the Duck Pond area of the Mohonk estate, where they were invited by the Smiley Brothers.

The camporee is a council-wide affair, to which all troops in the Rip Van Winkle Council (formed by Ulster-Greene Councils) have been invited to participate as units.

The program has been planned by Val W. Morrow of Maplecrest, council scout commissioner, and his staff. Arrangements have been made by the camping and activities committee, of which W. T. Tremper is chairman. Frank E. Bourke of Kingston will be camp chief.

The program as announced today by Myron D. Keefe, scout executive, is as follows:

Friday afternoon, June 2—Set up camp.

Saturday, June 3—Challenge events in scoutcraft skills by units.

Saturday night—Campfire, featuring "The Story of Mohonk" by Daniel Smiley. Also, story telling by Dr. Gilbert Hoppenstedt and stunts by participating units.

Sunday, June 4—Non-sectarian service on Camporee grounds. Scouts of Catholic faith will attend 9 a. m. Mass at New Paltz. Formal closing of Camporee at 2 p. m.

One feature of the Camporee will be the special training for the troops of Ulster and Greene counties boys who will attend the National Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa., June 30 to July 6.

Problems Viewed Regarding Uptown Street Widening

Wiltwyck Station Tracks to Be Removed for Time; New Water Line Planned

Washington, June 1 (AP)—Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) said today that a "Red network" ran from the Communist party to the magazine Amerasia and on into the State Department.

Knowland made the statement in a speech prepared for delivery in the Senate. He expressed his views as new charges and counter-charges highlighted the Senate inquiry into the Amerasia case of 1945.

The development included a flat denial by James M. McInerney, chief of the Justice Department's criminal division, of an assertion by Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa).

McInerney said there is no truth to a statement by Hickenlooper that documents the government recovered from Amerasia headquarters five years ago included one which showed the wartime location of American fleet units.

McInerney also denied published reports that certain other highly secret documents were among those seized by the F.B.I. and the old Office of Strategic Services.

Knows Beyond Doubt
Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) whose Communists-in-government charges touched off a new Amerasia inquiry, retorted that the known "beyond the slightest shadow of a doubt" that the material in question was seized in 1945 by government agents.

McCarthy added that other documents equally important also were recovered and now are in possession of the Justice Department.

The Amerasia magazine case broke in June 1945 after F.B.I. and O.S.S. raids had turned up hundreds of confidential federal papers in the offices of the far eastern affairs publication, and elsewhere.

Six persons were arrested, including two State Department employees—career diplomat John S. Service and Emmanuel S. Lorusso—and the co-editors of the magazine, Philip Jaffe and Miss Kate Mitchell. They and Navy Lieutenant Andrew Roth and a magazine writer, Mark Gayn, were charged with conspiracy to obtain illegal possession of government documents.

Jaffe pleaded guilty and was fined $2,500. Lorusso pleaded no defense and drew a $300 fine. A grand jury refused to indict Service, Miss Mitchell and Gayn. The charges against Roth were dropped.

Transmission Belt
In his Senate speech Knowland said:

"Amerasia might well be called the 'transmission belt' for the pro-Communist views of Communists, fellow travelers and sympathizers in this country to our policy making body on foreign policy, the United States Department of State."

Knowland then alluded to the Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee's current inquiry into McCarthy's charges and the Amerasia case, and declared:

"No one who has read the testimony of the public hearings can doubt a Red network existed which ran from the Communist party to  Amerasia ***"

Knowland renewed his call for a thorough public airing of the entire Amerasia case. He accused the Democratic-controlled inquiry committee of ringing down an iron curtain on much of the testimony taken behind closed doors.

Meters Bring $3,500
Parking meter collections in May totaled $3,500, the city treasurer's office announced today. This was $500 more than April collections and $270 more than in May, 1949. The total to date this year is $14,824, which is $610 under the 1949 total up to end of May. The difference is due largely to meters out of service in the Broadway crossing project area.

Japan Reds Call Strike As Reprisal

Rush Trial of Eight Japanese Cause of Action by Communists in Tokyo

Release Demanded

Would Free Those Who Are Charged With Attacking Yanks

Tokyo, June 1 (AP)—Openly defiant, Japan's Communist party today ordered a general strike Saturday in reprisal for the occupation's push trial of eight Japanese accused of kicking and stoning American soldiers.

The strike call promised to bring to a head growing tension between General MacArthur's occupation and the belligerent Communists.

This tension, fueled by recent international Communist charges that the Japanese Reds were too docile, erupted Memorial Day in the first physical violence of the occupation against U. S. troops.

A captain and four enlisted men, observers at a Communist anti-American rally in downtown Imperial Plaza, were kicked, beaten and stoned. Only a few hours earlier, authorities had expelled the Communists from the plaza to permit Americans to hold Memorial Day services for their war dead, including those who fell in the Pacific conflict against Japan.

Urged Their Defense
MacArthur in a May 2 speech urged the Japanese to defend their new constitutional liberties against the "international political perjury" of communism. He suggested the possibility of outlawing Japan's Communist party.

The Communist party howled that the plaza incidents were caused "by systematic and organized provocations by spies and thugs."

"Workers and students—rise up and start a general strike . . . demanding immediate release of the eight patriots."

It timed the reprisal strike to coincide with general strikes Saturday in the automobile, metal trades and heavy industry. The party's purpose in the latter is to influence the elections Sunday for the upper house of parliament.

No Way of Telling
There was no way of telling how effective the Communists could make their general strike. Occupation officials estimate the Reds control 600,000 of Japan's 6,250,000 organized workers.

Leftist Japanese college student leaders also called a nationwide strike for Saturday. About 20,000 students from 50 universities are expected to join the protest.

The English language Nippon Times editorialized: "If the Reds are asking for trouble they will get it."

Occupation headquarters was grim. "The Communists had better behave," one official growled.

Charged With Assault
The eight arrested were charged with assault and defying occupation orders. The latter charge was dropped against seven after the defense successfully argued there had been no conspiracy.

All eight pleaded innocent. They face prison terms up to 10 years and fines of $5,000 each if convicted.

The first day's trial of the eight, all students and unemployed workers, continued until nearly midnight. The second session was recessed late this afternoon until tomorrow, with the prosecution case completed.

Link Is Discovered Between Florida, Western Gamblers

Cohen and O'Rourke Are Joined in Operations, Is Report; Parley in New York

Washington, June 1 (AP)—Senate crime investigators said President Truman offered today to make income tax returns of suspected gamblers and racketeers available in the committee's nationwide inquiry.

Connection Reported
Washington, June 1 (AP)—Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said today a special Senate crime investigating committee has uncovered a business link between Florida and California gamblers.

Kefauver told a reporter that investigators have proof that Mickey Cohen of Los Angeles and John O'Rourke of West Palm Beach, Fla., have been doing business "over a long period of time."

Both Cohen and O'Rourke, the senator said, are known to be linked with bookmaking and gambling operations.

Kefauver made his statement shortly before the five man committee went to the White House to discuss with President Truman the investigation of big time gambling and crime.

This evidence of the Cohen-O'Rourke ties, Kefauver said, was obtained by the committee last week-end in a hearing at Miami, Fla.

The Miami investigation was reported to have proved a gold mine of information for the committee. It provided tips which are certain to lead the investigators into other cities throughout the country.

The evidence was said to be facts, figures, names and information which could be placed before a grand jury with supporting testimony.

The President was expected to give his blessings to the inquiry and pledge the full cooperation of the Justice Department and other government agencies.

Opened in Miami
The Senate's special committee of five—headed by Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.)—opened its investigation last Saturday with secret hearings in Miami, Fla. The inquiry is expected to shift soon to other cities under the same cloak of secrecy.

Senator Tobey (R-N.H.), a committee member, said the group may ask President Truman

Opposition Revives In Senate About Ewing Situation

Wherry Says Republicans Don't Favor Cabinet Post for Him as Health Boss

Washington, June 1 (AP)—A potential political thorn was tossed today into the path of President Truman's proposed new government Department of Health, Education and Security.

The probability that Oscar R. Ewing would become the first secretary of such a department revived some of the Senate opposition which killed a similar reorganization plan last year.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the G.O.P. floor leader, said Republicans aren't particularly interested in helping give cabinet stature to Ewing, who is talked as a possible Democratic candidate for governor of New York.

Mr. Truman's proposal last year for a new department of welfare was clubbed down in a 60 to 22 Senate vote last August 13 largely on the grounds that it would give too much power to Ewing, the federal security administrator.

Focal Point in Fight
Ewing's support of the President's proposal for compulsory health insurance was a focal point in that fight and remains a sore spot among critics now.

Senator McClellan (D-Ark.), who attacked last year's plan on the grounds that it seemed to open the way for what he called "socialized medicine," said the proposal looks satisfactory to him on that point.

McClellan heads the Senate Expenditures Committee which will hold hearings if any resolution disapproving the new plan is offered. A majority of the full membership of either House can kill a reorganization plan.

Wherry said he thinks there will be opposition to the new plan. If the plan survives an expected Senate challenge, Ewing may become a department head with what the President himself said are "essentially the same duties and authority as are now vested in the Federal Securities Administration."

Will Retain Authority
In yesterday's message to Congress submitting the plan, the President said that the surgeon general and the commissioner of education will "retain all the statutory authority and duties now vested in them."

Along with the commissioner of social security they would report directly to the secretary, who would transmit their views to the President.

The President said this provision "represents an additional safeguard against the fear of the possibility that the views of these officials could be unduly subordinated."

In another move, the President offered a Treasury reorganization plan minus the transfer of the

Boys, Girls Accept West Germany's Police Demands at Border

Luebeck, Germany, June 1 (AP)—Ten thousand sleepy Communist youths marooned for two nights just inside the Soviet zone started moving toward their West German homes today after calling off their sludgy strike.

The blue-shirted boys and girls accepted West German police demands that they give their names or submit to medical examinations before crossing the border.

They had been camping in the chilly border "No Man's Land," refusing to heed the police orders, since Tuesday night when they reached the east-west zonal frontier after attending the Communist Whitens rally in Berlin.

Sleepless Night
The weary youths capitulated after a sleepless night during which they piled their straw bedding onto camp fires in an attempt to keep warm. This morning they shuffled past lines of police and watchful German doctors who gave them a quick look-over for any possible contagious diseases contracted in their crowded Berlin quarters.

There were no incidents in the early hour, Western police said, doctors found no illness among the youths.

After the border medical check-up, the young Reds wound in a long column toward Luebeck's main railway station where they were to take trains to their West German homes. They appeared too tired even to chant Communist songs as they had done yesterday.

All Is Quiet
Elsewhere along the east-west zonal frontier all was quiet. Police reported a few later-comers among the returning youths were straggling across the border in Albany, N. Y., June 1 (AP)—The Court of Appeals is expected to rule next month on the constitutionality of the State Rent Control Law.

Landlords contesting the validity of the 1950 Residential Rent Control Act claim it represents an "arbitrary and unreasonable exercise of police power."

Tenant attorneys, on the other hand, say it is a "moderate and reasonable exercise of such power."

It also heard re-arguments in four cases testing the constitutionality of New York city's Sharkey Rent Control Law, which has been superseded, and a 1950

Says Fund Is Needed as Peace Kitty

Delay, He Says, Could 'Strike Fatal Blow' in Creating Basis for Amity

Gives Breakdown

Billion Would Be Used for Treaty Nations and Some for Others

Washington, June 1 (AP)—President Truman today asked Congress to provide $1,222,500,000 for a second year of the arms aid program.

He said delay in supplying the money might "strike a fatal blow at all our efforts to create the kind of peace which the free world seeks and would lessen our chances of continuing to live and work in freedom."

The fund would finance arms shipments to more than a dozen foreign nations, including Atlantic Pact allies, during the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

The $1,222,500,000 requested by Mr. Truman is slightly less than the $1,238,600,000 which Congress appropriated last year to help 13 nations rearm against communism.

First Report Made
Mr. Truman made the request in his first semi-annual report to Congress on the handling of the first year program, which began last fall.

Backing up his request, Mr. Truman said:

"The momentum already gained must under no circumstances be lost, because, once lost, it is doubtful that it can ever be recaptured at any cost."

The President gave this breakdown as to how the new money would be spent:

North Atlantic treaty nations—$1,000,000,000. This would go for weapons, a training program and would include spending of $75,000,000 for raw materials and machinery needed to boost military production in western Europe.

Cash for Equipment
Greece and Turkey—$120,000,000 to furnish "basic capital equipment," spare parts and to help modernize Greek and Turkish defenses.

Iran, the Philippines and Korea—$27,500,000. The report said this would pay for equipment and training to help the Iranian Army "present a firm stand in defense of independence" against a rising Soviet pressure, and to help the Philippines and South Korean governments to maintain internal order in the face of Communist threats.

General area of China—$75,000,000. The President said this money is needed "to continue and expand" the present program for giving help to the non-Communist forces in this area that are now engaged or in danger of being engaged in active conflict with militant Communist elements."

The President did not specify the exact number of countries which would share in the American arms aid program.

Informed officials said, however, that assistance will be given to 14 countries aside from those named in "the general area of China."

Nations to Get Arms
The North Atlantic Treaty nations to get arms, they said, are Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Denmark, Norway and Portugal. Portugal is being added to the Grafenwohr, Germany, May 23—Master Sergeant Albert J. Wright, formerly of 157 Hurley avenue, Kingston, recently qualified as sharpshooter during the First Quartermaster Company's firing problem at the Grafenwohr training center, Headquarters, First Infantry Division announced here this week. The First Quartermaster Company first sergeant scored 176 points out of a possible 200 with his M-2 carbine from distances of 100 and 200 yards to obtain his classification. Sgt. Wright entered the army in July 1943 and has served with the First Quartermaster Company ever since.

Mrs. Alford Dies
New Britain, Conn., June 1 (AP)—Mrs. Fannie Alford, born the same year that this community was incorporated, died last night, just a few months short of her 100th birthday. Her birthday anniversary next September was to have been a special affair. The city plans to observe its centennial then. Because her life paralleled that of her native city, arrangements had been made to have Mrs. Alford participate in the community celebration as honorary chairman of the city centenary committee.

Alarms Are Investigated
Police investigation followed two more false alarms last night, but was without definite results to date. Chief Raymond Van Buren said today. Four other false alarms were pulled in the city during one night recently. Those last night were from boxes at North Front and Crown streets and Taylor street near the Washington avenue viaduct, the first at 4:42 and the second at 5:10 a. m. Officers Earl Schoonmaker and Gerald Every checked the area each time.

STREAMLINING GOVERNMENT

Vital streamlining of the federal government still has a long road to travel.

Thanks to a late spurt in Congress, we made more progress this year than it seemed we would. But that doesn't obscure the fact we should have done a lot better.

In one big batch President Truman submitted twenty-one reorganized plans, most based fairly closely on the recommendations of the able Hoover Commission which studied the problem exhaustively. The Senate killed five and the other sixteen are now in effect.

Offhand that score looks good, but the results need to be analyzed a little. Former President Herbert Hoover, who headed the commission, says only one of the twenty-one plans calls for major surgery on a government department. That's the one putting the Maritime Commission into the Commerce Department.

The Hoover group recommended eighteen major administrative shifts. Three others, besides the Commerce Department change, have already been approved. They include reorganization of the State Department and unification of the armed services. But that still leaves fourteen to be acted on.

Not until these are instituted can the government begin to realize the efficiencies and economies promised from this great streamlining program. Savings of perhaps $3,000,000,000 annually depend on carrying the plan to completion.

Mr. Hoover does not appear to be worried because some of Mr. Truman's proposals vary from the commission's. "The President has the right and duty to present his own ideas in these matters," he says.

What does trouble Mr. Hoover is the kind of opposition some plans have aroused. Proposals for realigning the Treasury, the Agriculture Department, the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Federal Communications Commission were killed. Mr. Hoover is said to feel pressure groups worked hard against reforms that would affect them, while shouting loudly for all the others.

Too many senators appear to have yielded to these pressures. Moreover, they have argued inconsistently in defense of their negative action. They have charged that the plans represent a "power grab" for Mr. Truman. Insofar as they call for a clearer line of command and a centralization of administrative responsibility, this could be said of all the Hoover Commission proposals.

With the exception of the President's back-door effort to amend the Taft-Hartley law by "reorganizing" the office of N.L.R.B. general counsel out of existence, the defeated plans should be submitted again. And action should proceed forthwith on the fourteen remaining major operations recommended.

Toward all of these Senate and House should take a constructive, statesmanlike attitude. If they do not, congressional spouting about federal waste and inefficiency will have an empty sound for a long time to come.

NEW USE FOR THE ARCTIC

"The friendly Arctic" was the surprising name given to this bleak region by the explorer Vilhjalmur Stefansson. He thought it quite livable, after a little practice. Born in Iceland and living as a boy in North Dakota, Stefansson was perhaps less alarmed by low temperatures than the average dweller in temperate regions.

Now the Russians are putting Stefansson's ideas into effect. Having so much Arctic territory within their domain, they have been trying to get some good out of it. Years ago they found that with icebreakers it was possible to navigate, even in winter, along the north Siberian shore. Now they have been doing some exploring.

An endeavor to trace the course of the Indigirka River in eastern Siberia led to the discovery of a previously unknown mountain range, about ninety-five miles long and forty miles wide, with sixty important peaks, some of them over 9,000 feet high.

STOLEN EVIDENCE
The statement of Robert M. Hitchcock, prosecuting attorney in charge of the "Amerasia" case in 1945, that the reason that the Department of Justice did not proceed with the "Amerasia" case was that the O.S.S. and the F.B.I. had "stolen" the evidence is so palpably a legalistic alibi that no one need pay any attention to it.

Perhaps had Senator Tydings published the whole of Mr. Hitchcock's evidence, it would have been fairer both to the witness and the American people. For some reason, beyond understanding and precedent, Senator Tydings made public only a part—and not the essential part—of Mr. Hitchcock's testimony. The questions and answers have been suppressed. Also, not one word of the testimony of Frank Brooks Bilaski has been made public, although he actually made the original raid on the "Amerasia" headquarters, and he has testified fully before Senator Tydings's committee.

Now, I am not one who is ready to impugn the motives of Senator Tydings, although I am reaching the conclusion that he is by training, mental habits and personal preferences incapable of understanding the material with which he is dealing in these cases. He is dealing with something that occurred in 1945—when we were at war. He is trying to deal with all this in terms of the political problems of 1950.

Let us translate Mr. Hitchcock's statement back to when he was officially concerned with it in 1945. On March 11, 1945, the O.S.S. through its agent, Frank Brooks Bilaski, and three others, effected a raid on a stolen O.S.S. file, entered the Amerasia office to recapture it. He found not only the file sought, but a vast amount of material taken from the State Department, the Army, Navy and O.W.I. He kept samples as evidence of the type of material available.

Does Mr. Hitchcock intend to tell us that the security agencies of the government, in time of war, are forbidden by law to search out and seize the documents the spies stole, to have them arrested and punished? If that is his contention, what about a soldier, such as Martin Monti, who is in prison charged with working for the Nazis? What about Tokyo Rose, charged with working for Japan? What about the imprisonment of George Sylvester Viereck?

In a word, are we to distinguish between "good" foreign agents and "bad" foreign agents? Suppose you or I were found with a document marked "top secret" during the war—do you suppose we would get away with it? Judith Coplon has been convicted for much less than appeared in the "Amerasia" case. Why she and not they?

Three months after the O.S.S. raid, the F.B.I. raided the same premises. Altogether 1,700 documents of various degrees of confidential nature were found. Mr. Hitchcock said of this:

"Nothing is clearer under federal law than that evidence secured as a result of illegal searches will be suppressed upon the application of those whose constitutional right to the privacy of their homes, their persons and their effects has been violated."

Is that why the Department of Justice let Arthur Adams escape from this country with a sample of atomic fissionable material, although the F.B.I. had him with the goods—and knew his every connection? Is that why J. Peters was permitted to manage an atomic spy ring, and then to offer to leave this country by self-deportation? And he was granted the privilege of self-deportation before he testified at a congressional investigation or a court of law.

Is that the reason why Dr. Klaus Fuchs was not caught in this country, although he operated here as a spy since 1932? If he finally was caught and arrested in England, does the F.B.I. have to use British police and British courts to win its cases against spies in the United States?

Is that why even after the Canadian government presented this country with the facts of widespread espionage here, nothing was done about it? The pattern of the "Amerasia" case is becoming clear. The spies have a defense, and it is their defense that is really protecting them. Their defense is that they stole no documents from the State Department, the Army, Navy, O.S.S. and O.W.I. They stole nothing, because what they possessed was given to them. All right! Who did the giving?

And that question explains the cover-up. (Copyright, 1950, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours
By James W. Barton, M.D.

LEUKEMIA
When an acute illness attacks the body, immediately there is a great increase in the white corpuscles (the disease fighters of the blood). This is the reason that the physician has the blood examined; he knows that if there is a great increase in the white corpuscles, the attack is serious, and also that the body is putting up a great fight to ward off the effects of the disease.

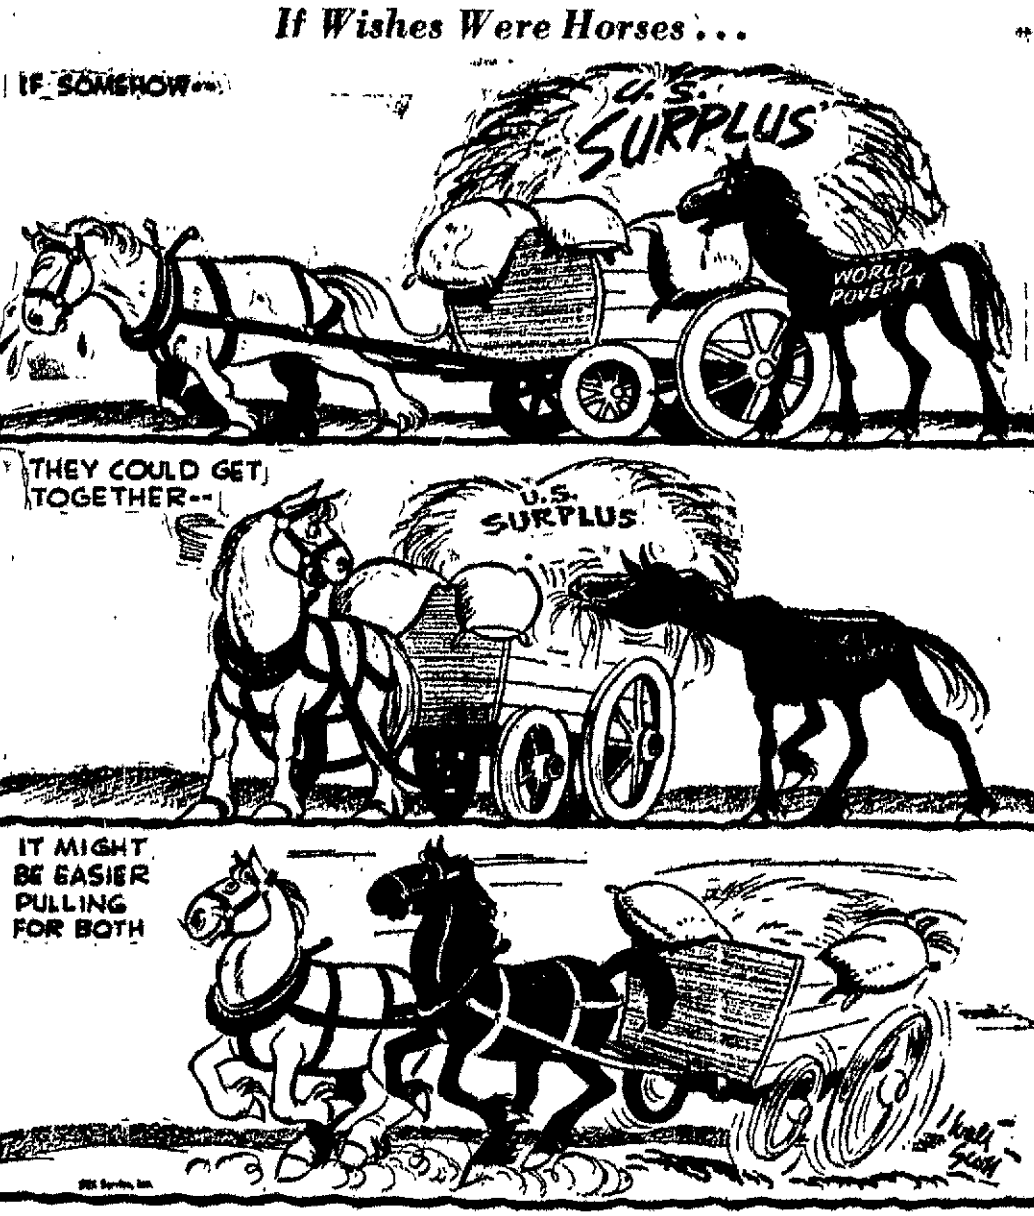

A young medical officer in our Base Hospital during the flu epidemic of 1918-1919 developed pneumonia. A consulting physician when he saw the laboratory blood report, shook his head, as, despite the severe illness present, there was no increase in white corpuscles in the blood. This meant that the body was not putting up a good fight for the patient.

Why was there no increase in white corpuscles? The family history showed that the patient's father had died in the same manner; that is, he had no "resistance" to his disease. However, this great increase in the number of white corpuscles in the blood is a favorable condition only up to a certain point; where there is too great an increase in the white corpuscles, it can be a serious matter and in some cases it means death. This disease is called leukemia.

In the ordinary type of leukemia the spleen becomes enlarged, sometimes ten times its normal size. Although there are various signs and symptoms which help the physician to diagnose leukemia correctly, there has not as yet been developed a method of examining the spleen except by operation.

It is interesting to learn from "The Journal of the American Medical Association" that two professors of medicine of University of Chicago, Drs. Matthew Block and Leon O. Jacobson, have developed a new technique for distinguishing between types of leukemia. After a local injection of novocain is used to deaden possible pain, a hollow needle is inserted between the patient's ribs until it reaches into the spleen a half inch or an inch. The needle then draws out a small "pencil" of tissue from the spleen, much as a cork cuts the cork of an apple. This tissue is studied under the microscope. One special advantage of this method is that it may show that an operation to remove the spleen is unnecessary.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Washington — Jim McNerny, the assistant attorney general, was testifying in secret before the Tydings Committee regarding the stolen documents in the Amerasia case.

McNerny, now in charge of the justice department's criminal division, handled the Amerasia prosecution when he had a lower position in the justice department five years ago. And the man who cross-examined him, Senator Committee Counsel Ed Morgan, once worked in the F.B.I. as a top expert on Communists. They knew each other well.

"Jim," asked Morgan, "did anyone ever bring any pressure on you regarding these people who were indicted in the Amerasia case?"

"Yes," replied McNerny. Republican senators pricked up their ears. This was just what they had been looking for. The Scripps-Howard newspaper chain, now sued for libel by one of the Amerasia ex-defendants, has been claiming that political pressure caused the justice department to drop the case.

"Where did the pressure come from?" continued Morgan.

"The White House," replied McNerny. Republican senators were all smiles. Democratic senators looked worried.

"Who in the White House?" pressed Morgan.

"The President," said the tight-lipped McNerny, apparently not willing to volunteer anything unless asked.

"What did the President say?" asked Morgan. By this time both Democrat and Republican senators were almost holding their breath.

"The President called me on the phone," said McNerny, "and said, 'don't let anything stop you from sending those B-2's to jail.'"

The senators relaxed. The Republicans looked disappointed. But they knew if for no other reason than because they were familiar with the President's multi-driver language, that McNerny was telling the truth.

Why Case Was Dropped
The real story of why McNerny could not carry out the President's orders is now fully understood — namely, because

Today in Washington

Acheson Could Report, but No Member of Congress Could Hold Him Accountable
By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 1—Members of the House and Senate today could interrogate the secretary of state, Dean Acheson, but they could not pass judgment on the merit of his report—they could not hold him accountable as a member of the British or Canadian or Australian cabinet could be held accountable at the polls.

This is the chief difference between the novel session at which Mr. Acheson submitted to questioning by members of Congress and the method that prevails in the parliamentary systems abroad.

Actually, if anything, the secretary of state seems even more remote from the power of Congress. For, once his appointment is confirmed by the Senate, he cannot be removed for mistakes in policy, if he makes them. Neither can the president of the United States, who might be considered to be analogous in position to the prime minister, be removed even though a majority of the legislative body disagree with him on policy. Asking questions without the power to hold the executive immediately responsible is no gain toward a parliamentary democracy.

Incidentally, Mr. Truman has succeeded in placing himself so much in the background on foreign policy that he cannot be held how detached now from responsibility. Whatever the mistakes made are those of Mr. Acheson—they do not seem to involve Mr. Truman at all.

Specifically, there is no way to bring the administration to the point of realizing that the Acheson report is one that, on its face, accepts the inevitability of war—three or five or 10 years hence. The secretary says:

"It should be made plain that there was nothing which any of the 12 foreign ministers had to say which indicated that there is any immediate threat of war. It was our unanimous view that this is not the problem. The problem is to meet a threat which, in view of the known program of the Kremlin, will exist unless we act now to prepare our defenses against aggression."

This is another way of saying that aggression will be deterred only by superior might, when organized by the democracies. It assumes that the democracies will not wish to build competitive armaments of new weapons with which also to prepare their defenses. It assumes that an armed state between rival powers, which has hitherto in world history usually led to war, will not this time lead to war.

The secretary says, "I was hoping that 'with the completion of the reconstruction phase, each nation would be free to work out its own problems' but that now the only course open is one of 'cooperative association.' Mr. Acheson sees the road to peace as one that can be won only if the twelve nations develop their economic and military strength through the process of voluntary and continuing cooperation."

There is in all this the traditional attitude toward the opposing group of nations which has always characterized peace behavior. The concept seems to be historically the same old defeatism where a point is reached where diplomacy is useless, mediation is useless, negotiation is only means "appeasement" and the sourcefulness of man in applying a conciliatory spirit to the problems of man has been exhausted.

Yet the strongest single sentiment in America is that which clamors for peace—a honorable peace and not a surrender. The how detached now from responsibility will not put anything to hasten the making of a peace adjustment of any kind but prefers to drift into war as an inevitable necessity some day is the discouraging thought that comes out of Washington. It persists in the statements of the military and in the statements of the highest officials, despite the lip service so often paid to the need for mobilizing the "moral and spiritual forces" of the world.

To rely solely on physical force and to let every occasion go by that could be utilized to appeal to the peoples of Russia is to create misgivings even where that more momentous will bring about peace but war.

Mr. Acheson's report, the people are being educated by the leaders to the same thing—and that's the way war came. (Reproduction rights reserved)

AS PEGLER SEES IT
By WESTBROOK PEGLER

When the jury disagreed in the lawsuit of Paul Draper and Larry Adler against Mrs. John T. McCullough, Draper said: "In the present climate of public opinion the failure of this jury to be convinced of the truth of the charges against us is vindication of our loyalty."

I disagree. Draper and Adler failed to convince the jury that Mrs. McCullough's charges were false. And, inasmuch as this pair have insisted that their loyalty was inspired, it appears to me that the cloud has not been dispelled. They tried hard to dispel it. They would seem to have spent a great deal of money on their lawsuit, though they claimed to be on their uppers by reason of a popular boycott against their tavern entertainment. How they knew by the money to pay for all this I have a legitimate right to know, when they were so hard up that Draper had to move from New York to Ridgefield, Conn., to economize and Adler had to leave his progeny in Paris for the same reason.

The pity of their situation leaves me almost unmoved, however, when I compare it with the actual suffering that Hester McCullough had to endure. I am instantly reminded of the pitiless application of the cruel Connecticut law of attachment against the McCulloughs' home and bank account and the jeopardy which these poor plaintiffs knowingly imposed against their education and the future of their nine-year-old son.

After all, as the evidence and the attachment plainly show, Mrs. McCullough's charges were not gratuitous and malicious but were prompted by past performance and associations of Draper and Adler. They were uttered by a spirit of intense loyalty to the United States and detestation of scribes all but the most essential necessities to pay the $200,000 judgment. Perhaps in 30 or 40 years they would have been able to pay off, unavailably denied the hope of owning a home or the hope of educating their child.

Draper and Adler were allowed to call upon the jurors' sympathy for their children, whose condition, at worst, seemed not too bad. Draper, for example, said that, notwithstanding the cruel boycott, he still could afford a governess. The McCulloughs never had a governess. And during the very time when Draper was boasting his poverty, the McCulloughs' boy was running a very high fever, to the great anxiety of his mother, but he had no nurse. They couldn't afford one. Two neighbors took turns caring for the boy. An appeal for sympathy on this account would have been improper, although Draper and Adler were allowed to expose the want of their children to the last living of patients.

Ridgely Corn is not a country. It is no less expensive than New York, all things considered. Of recent years Ridgely has drawn a strange new clientele. Among them, individuals are noted whose names occur often in the records of committees on Un-American Activities. Two new summer resorts have been known to advertise in the Daily Worker. In my experience, living there was not cheap and the new neighbors, up from New York, included ideologists of a hue not harmonious with the Yankee traditions of conservative economy and patriotic nationalism.

These plaintiffs pounced on impulsive, patriotic remarks by an unwary American housewife and, according to their legal fight, showed her no mercy. She was made ill, but that was immaterial under the law. Her faint protest was little noted and would have been forgotten by all but a tiny circle but for the decision of Draper and Adler to drag her through ruinous expense and overwhelm her and her husband with an enormous judgment. Half a dozen pro-American propagandists took up Mrs. McCullough's cause, not to cry boycott but to raise money so that the girl could have a fair trial. No publican called for the boycott! Any boycott here was the decision of millions of individuals. If it has been ruinous, as Draper and Adler say, then a vast number of Americans must have been aroused against them, not by anything Hester McCullough said but by what they tried to do to her.

The disagreement of the jury was a victory for Hester Draper and Adler put their loyalty up for vindication. They had a long, fair trial with excellent counsel. The jury refused to vindicate them. (Copyright, 1950, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Grand Union Has New Retirement Plan for Employees

The Grand Union Company announced liberalized Employee Retirement Plan benefits at a meeting of representatives of all stores and the route division held today in the Division General Manager's office in Albany.

Established originally in 1945, it was one of the first Employee Retirement Plans set up by a major food chain. The amended plan is one of the finest in the industry. The improvements made in the plan include lowering of age and increasing of length of service for eligibility, extension of credit for service prior to start of the plan, minimum normal retirement income of $100 per month including social security, and lowered vesting requirements.

Under the new plan, more than twice as many employees will be eligible for membership and all concerned will receive larger retirement income the company said.

Life Among the Rich

(This Week)

A small boy was invited home to lunch one day by a friend whose family was very wealthy. The visitor was impressed by everything he saw, but most of all by the elderly butler who served the meal. Small Roy (reporting to his family)—It had to stand there, passing plates and everything. Never got a chance to sit down and eat a bite, himself. When the doorbell rang, he had to answer that, too. They may be rich, but they sure make their father work hard.

Wife—Been to a lecture? Ridiculous! They don't lecture until 1 o'clock in the morning.

Husband—That's one did, my dear. Poor chap, he had a most terrible st-st-stroke.

Alice—Gladys is a queer girl. Virginia—How's that?

Alice—She told George he might kiss her if he could catch her.

Virginia—Well?

Alice—She really ran.

Mrs. Newell (bride of three weeks)—I just know you're going to like this dear. Mother says chicken salad and strawberry tart are the best things I make.

Hubby—And which is this, honey?

Just Suggestion
(Christian Science Monitor)
Comic books don't make killers; they merely suggest it's fun to kill.

Friend—Does your wife ever boast that she made a man of you?

Man—Well, she never goes quite that far. All she says is that she tried to do her best.

Tourist (at country hotel)—Can my wife and I have a room with a shower?

Proprietor—I can give you a room that leaks but I'm dinged-husted if I can guarantee rain.

Ruth Haviland became the first air hostess in the United States in 1929.

Library and Health Center Are Opened

Highland, June 1.—More than 80 persons attended the recent opening of the new health center and library, both of which were damaged by fire and water during the winter of 1948.

Visitors came from Kingston and surrounding area and from sections of Dutchess county to see the fully-restored agencies for public service.

Among those attending were Miss Esther Schika, director of nursing; Miss Ella Wood, supervising nurse; and Fred Vadalonia, sanitary inspector from the county; also Mrs. Jean Courtney, public relations director of Vassar College.

The health center has all of the facilities to care for children and others who need attention.

The town committee is made up of: Mrs. Bruff, chairman; Mrs. Jacob Schuchle, secretary; Mrs. Ella Guiney, treasurer; Mrs. Anthony Williams, loan closet; Mrs. William Russell, Mrs. A. Hebert Campbell, purchasing.

The committee served refreshments to guests during the period of public inspection.

Miss Eleanor Flint who came in June 1948 as public health nurse is employed by the Ulster County Health Department. She is a graduate of the hospital at Syracuse University and the special training school at Mt. Morris State Tuberculosis Hospital.

Chairmen of the health committee for the afternoon were Mrs. Edith Hovel and Mrs. Carl Jenke.

Members of the committee that promoted the center in the early 1930's were given recognition: Mrs. Gay Brady, Mrs. James Callahan, Miss Eliza Ives Raymond, Mrs. Charles L. DuBois, Mrs. Bradt is compiling the history of the start of the health work in the Town of Lloyd.

Those visiting the library were greeted by Mrs. Arthur Clarke, librarian, who explained about the various collections of books for young and old. The library is in the home of the late Dr. and Mrs. Casper H. Ganse who left it to benefit the community.

Dental Survey Planned In Kerhonkson School

For the purpose of determining the dental needs and instituting an intelligent interest in the care and health of children's teeth, the Kerhonkson Board of Education this month, in cooperation with the Ulster County Health Department, has started a dental hygiene survey in the Kerhonkson school.

This program consists of examination of the children's mouths, teaching proper method of brushing teeth, and talks on nutrition in relation to dental health.

When the school project is completed, plans are also being made for a similar program to be started for all pre-school children.

from two to five years of age in Kerhonkson and Accord.
If the parents of this area show a sufficient response to this program, it will be followed by one for the application of sodium fluoride to the teeth in the pre-school age group.

Magistrate Warns Youthful Gangs

New York, June 1 (AP)—An angry magistrate warned Brooklyn teen-age gangsters yesterday that he and other magistrates were going to crack down on them from now on.

"We're not going to treat you like kids any more," Magistrate Benjamin Brenner told 12 members of gun-toting junior gangs arranged before him on a variety of charges. The charges followed an outburst of Memorial Day gun and knife fights in which three boys were wounded.

Bail of $2,500 to $15,000 was set for 11 of the youths, members of the Greene Avenue Stompers, Nits, Chicos and Gay Nineties gangs. The Negro gangs operate in Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant slum area.

Magistrate Brenner ordered Harvey Charles, 18, held without bail for a hearing next Tuesday. He was accused of shooting and seriously wounding a 15-year-old boy during the fighting.
Two other boys were grazed by bullets.
Previous fights among the gangs built up to the fatal stabbing last April 28 of a 15-year-old Greene Avenue Stomper in a pitched battle fought over a six-block area.

Broom and Baking Soda

Camden, N. J., June 1 (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Guinn never minded when her two youngsters brought stray animals home—but a swarm of bees is another matter. George Guinn, eight, and his sister, Janina, three, banged open the front door and made a dash for the kitchen. They didn't have to tell their mother what was the trouble. The two children were being pursued by hundreds of bees. Mrs. Guinn grabbed a broom, stunned as many of the honey-makers as she could and then called police. A couple of policemen managed to get the rest of the wayward buzzers into a hive. With a sigh of relief, Mrs. Guinn put away her broom, shut the front door and applied some baking soda to a half dozen assorted stings.

Construction Resumes

Oak Ridge, Tenn., June 1 (AP)—Construction work on $250,000, 600 vaults of government projects including two atomic plants began picking up its normal pace today following a one-week walkout that paralyzed all building here.

Way Clear for Politics

Pensacola, Fla., June 1 (AP)—The way has been cleared for Navy Capt. John G. Crommelin, severe critic of Pentagon policies, to enter Alabama politics. Papers were signed yesterday at the Pensacola Naval Air Station ending his active naval career. He had requested retirement ending his two decades of active service. Crommelin, an outstanding World War 2 naval aviator, announced recently he will be a candidate for U. S. senator on an independent ticket in the November general election. Sen. Lester Hill won Democratic nomination in the May 2 primaries.

Ruling on State

pression of the state's purpose" in combating the rental housing shortage.

Teeval Co., Inc., a New York city landlord, pressed the major test.

Teeval contends the state law violates the federal and state constitutions.

A Manhattan municipal court judge dismissed on May 1 Teeval's action to collect from Edwin H. Stern, Jr., rent increases approved last year by the federal housing expeditor but rejected by the city rent commission.

The landlord lawyers contended before the Court of Appeals that the Legislature improperly delegated power to Governor Dewey by sending him three "inconsistent" rent control bills.

They also charged that the Republican bill signed by Dewey on March 29 was "discriminatory" against New York city landlords.

In feeling tools as of March 1, 1949, in the city and as of March 1, 1950, elsewhere.

Dewey vetoed a Democratic rent control measure and a bill sponsored by Westchester county Republicans to continue the state's standby law, operative only if all federal controls ceased.

Meanwhile, in New York city yesterday, Justice Joseph A. Gaughan of State Supreme Court reserved decision in the first case brought under the new state law.

State Rent Administration Joseph B. McGonick, who filed the suit, charged that Mrs. Sarah Phillips and her family had been evicted from their $24-a-month apartment in Harlem.

Mrs. Phillips, a widow, claimed no eviction papers had been served.

Virgil and Ola Snod, owners of the building, contended through counsel that Mrs. Phillips had been justly and therefore was not covered by the rent law. Mrs. Phillips said she had not been justly.

Health Problems

could concentrate upon, Dr. Kaiser mentioned alcoholism, which is now being considered a sickness.

Great Advances Made

Great advances have been made in public health during the past 50 years, Dr. Kaiser pointed out. He stressed the improvement in child health and its resulting lengthening of the life span of the average American.

Discovery of new drugs and the pasteurization of milk were two main factors in this improvement, according to the speaker.

There remains to be done much work in combating rheumatic heart disease, polio, blood diseases and in the field of child psychology, he said.

Dr. Kaiser, commissioner of health at Rochester since 1945, is also professor of child hygiene at the University of Rochester and executive director of the Council on Regional Hospital.

He is author of a book, "Children's Tonsils—In and Out."

41st Report Given

The 41st annual report of the work of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association was given by Miss Katherine M. Murphy, executive secretary. Excerpts from the report follow:

Our death rate from tuberculosis has continued to decrease in Ulster county, is now down to about 30 per 100,000. However, the National Tuberculosis Association tells us the number of persons estimated to have active tuberculosis is about the same as it has been for the past several years and one-half of these people with active tuberculosis are not known to health authorities.

Tuberculosis still ranks first among diseases as the cause of death in persons between 15 and 34. But it ranks at all ages. The cause is known, early diagnosis can be made, and cure is possible.

One of our major fields of activity is providing means by which our citizens may be well informed about the value of good health and the prevention of disease.

Films, pamphlets and books are supplied to health teachers and principals for classes and health projects. The School Press Project, jointly sponsored by our association, the National Tuberculosis Association, and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, gave all high school students the opportunity to learn essential facts about tuberculosis control.

500 copies of "U.C.—The Ulster County News" with items of pertinent information are mailed out monthly from the tuberculosis office.

"What's New in Health?" is presented every Tuesday morning in cooperation with Radio Station WKNY on the Town Crier Program.

At present, we are cooperating with the state and county health departments in organizational and promotional programs and providing publicity for the chest X-ray survey of all persons 15 years of age and over in 14 townships in Ulster county not covered in recent community programs. This survey extends from May 16 through July 1.

During the past year, more than 66,000 pieces of information have gone out from our office for various health projects.

Provides Transportation

The association provides transportation to and from the tuberculosis hospitals and clinics for individuals as recommended by public health nurses and welfare workers. Through the Joseph M. Fowler fund, subscriptions for current magazines and bound books are purchased for patients at the tuberculosis hospital.

The Tuberculosis Association is providing the Kingston and Benedictine Hospitals with patch tests for tuberculin testing of all children under 15 years of age admitted to these institutions.

Our committee on mental health has carried on a most active program during the year. The public has shown a keen interest in the mental health program and is eager to learn more about it.

An important development in the association program this past year has been the affiliation of the Board of Directors through the State Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health with the American Heart Association. A total of $2,315.28 was raised through the plastic heart collections and contributions from organizations and individuals. Of the total collected, 70 per cent will be retained in the country.

The 1949 Christmas Seal Sale reached a total of $25,207.70—the largest in our history. To the many thousands of contributors and the working volunteers in Ulster county who made this sale possible, the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association says, "Thank you."

In addition to the reelection of Harry S. Ensign as president of the association, the members present elected Dr. F. W. Holcomb as vice president to replace the late Sidney K. Clapp. The other vice president, Edmund P. Rochford, was reelected, as were Alfred D. Ronder, treasurer, and Katherine M. Murphy, R.N., secretary.

New members elected to the board of directors were the Rev. William Kennedy of Highland, replacing the Rev. John Flapin of Milton, who has moved from the territory and whose term expires in 1951; and the Rev. Ivan F. Gosso of Kingston, to replace the Rev. Herbert Killander of Ulster Park, whose term expires in 1952.

Board members re-elected for three years were Vernon A. Barnhart, Stone Ridge; Mrs. James B. Crowell, Wallkill; Mrs. William Cruickshank, Big Indian; Mrs. Joseph Deegan, Kingston; Dr. Frederick W. Holcomb, Rosendale; Mrs. Stephen Huben, Rosendale; Mrs. William McNamee, West Hurley; Mrs. Raymond E. New Paltz; Mrs. C. Imbrie Richards, Highland; Dr. John Roberts, Kingston; Edmund P. Rochford, Kingston; Charles Snyder, Kingston; Herbert E. Thomas, Kingston; Ira V. D. Warren, Kingston; N. Jansen Fowler, Kingston.

"I expect Mr. Truman to give us his cooperation and support," Tobey told reporters.

Other committee members are Senators Hunt (D-Wyo.), Wiley (R-Wis.) and O'Connor (D-Md.). One committee member said "I rather suspect" that the crime situation in Kansas City, Mo., would be discussed during the White House visit.

Source: As Sought

The Senate committee's main objective is to uncover the underworld's sources of wealth—and to disclose any ties between criminal and political groups.

One source of information lies in income tax returns. This confidential information can be opened to senators only under a presidential order. It was through income tax returns that federal agents finally convicted Scarface Al Capone and sent him to prison.

Kefauver was in New York yesterday. He is interested in the case being built up by New York police against gambler Frank Erickson.

A grand jury returned 60 counts of information against Erickson yesterday—one charging conspiracy and 59 others charging bookmaking (taking bets on horse races).

Tobey hinted to reporters that the Senate investigators still have an interest in Erickson. "That case isn't closed," Tobey said. In New York, Kefauver said the U. S. attorney in Washington was holding up action until New York authorities moved.

New York Checked

New York, June 1 (AP)—U. S. Senate crime probes turned their spotlight on New York city's multi-million-dollar gambling industry today.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) has started a series of conferences with District Attorney Frank S. Hogan of New York county (Manhattan).

The first talk was held late yesterday, a few hours after big time gambler Frank Erickson was charged by a grand jury with bookmaking and conspiracy.

Kefauver, chairman of a special Senate committee investigating interstate crime, said he planned frequent conferences with Hogan.

Erickson, 54, admitted before senate investigators in Washington yesterday that he ran a $12,500,000-a-year gambling empire and netted $100,000 a year profit.

Kefauver told newsmen after the conference with Hogan: "We're very much interested in New York. We don't know whether to have committee hearings in Washington on New York, or whether to lay them here."

The senator said there was no connection between his visit and the 60-count information handed up by the grand jury against Erickson.

The information grew out of a lengthy investigation conducted by Hogan, and was spurred by Erickson's testimony before the Senate committee.

Kefauver said his committee has found evidence of gambling operations in Florida and California.

President Asks

just for the first time Small amounts of naval and air force equipment will be sent to bolster Portugal's coastline defenses and to help maintain the strategic air bases on the Azores.

President Truman also asked "some form of limited authority" in the event of an emergency, to divert a "small portion" of money earmarked for any special area.

"With the continuation of Soviet probing for weak spots in the security structure of the free world," he said, "emergency situations of this character may well arise and require prompt and positive action by the United States."

Mr. Truman also urged Congress to change present laws to make it possible to sell American arms "under appropriate safeguards" to nations not covered specifically in the present legislation.

He said he had in mind "nations whose increased ability to defend themselves against aggression is important to the security of the United States."

United States

At the same time the President asked for authority to charge such countries less than the full cost in selling "used, deteriorated or obsolete equipment." He said the price should be the "present fair value" of such equipment.

The President also appealed to Congress to let these nations buy American arms on an installment plan instead of requiring them to pay the full price in advance as now.

Late Tuesday, Mrs. A. J. B. has been elected to a depth of 4,000 feet.

could concentrate upon, Dr. Kaiser mentioned alcoholism, which is now being considered a sickness.

Great Advances Made

Great advances have been made in public health during the past 50 years, Dr. Kaiser pointed out. He stressed the improvement in child health and its resulting lengthening of the life span of the average American.

Discovery of new drugs and the pasteurization of milk were two main factors in this improvement, according to the speaker.

There remains to be done much work in combating rheumatic heart disease, polio, blood diseases and in the field of child psychology, he said.

Dr. Kaiser, commissioner of health at Rochester since 1945, is also professor of child hygiene at the University of Rochester and executive director of the Council on Regional Hospital.

He is author of a book, "Children's Tonsils—In and Out."

41st Report Given

The 41st annual report of the work of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association was given by Miss Katherine M. Murphy, executive secretary. Excerpts from the report follow:

Our death rate from tuberculosis has continued to decrease in Ulster county, is now down to about 30 per 100,000. However, the National Tuberculosis Association tells us the number of persons estimated to have active tuberculosis is about the same as it has been for the past several years and one-half of these people with active tuberculosis are not known to health authorities.

Tuberculosis still ranks first among diseases as the cause of death in persons between 15 and 34. But it ranks at all ages. The cause is known, early diagnosis can be made, and cure is possible.

One of our major fields of activity is providing means by which our citizens may be well informed about the value of good health and the prevention of disease.

Films, pamphlets and books are supplied to health teachers and principals for classes and health projects. The School Press Project, jointly sponsored by our association, the National Tuberculosis Association, and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, gave all high school students the opportunity to learn essential facts about tuberculosis control.

500 copies of "U.C.—The Ulster County News" with items of pertinent information are mailed out monthly from the tuberculosis office.

"What's New in Health?" is presented every Tuesday morning in cooperation with Radio Station WKNY on the Town Crier Program.

At present, we are cooperating with the state and county health departments in organizational and promotional programs and providing publicity for the chest X-ray survey of all persons 15 years of age and over in 14 townships in Ulster county not covered in recent community programs. This survey extends from May 16 through July 1.

During the past year, more than 66,000 pieces of information have gone out from our office for various health projects.

Provides Transportation

The association provides transportation to and from the tuberculosis hospitals and clinics for individuals as recommended by public health nurses and welfare workers. Through the Joseph M. Fowler fund, subscriptions for current magazines and bound books are purchased for patients at the tuberculosis hospital.

The Tuberculosis Association is providing the Kingston and Benedictine Hospitals with patch tests for tuberculin testing of all children under 15 years of age admitted to these institutions.

Our committee on mental health has carried on a most active program during the year. The public has shown a keen interest in the mental health program and is eager to learn more about it.

An important development in the association program this past year has been the affiliation of the Board of Directors through the State Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health with the American Heart Association. A total of $2,315.28 was raised through the plastic heart collections and contributions from organizations and individuals. Of the total collected, 70 per cent will be retained in the country.

The 1949 Christmas Seal Sale reached a total of $25,207.70—the largest in our history. To the many thousands of contributors and the working volunteers in Ulster county who made this sale possible, the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association says, "Thank you."

In addition to the reelection of Harry S. Ensign as president of the association, the members present elected Dr. F. W. Holcomb as vice president to replace the late Sidney K. Clapp. The other vice president, Edmund P. Rochford, was reelected, as were Alfred D. Ronder, treasurer, and Katherine M. Murphy, R.N., secretary.

New members elected to the board of directors were the Rev. William Kennedy of Highland, replacing the Rev. John Flapin of Milton, who has moved from the territory and whose term expires in 1951; and the Rev. Ivan F. Gosso of Kingston, to replace the Rev. Herbert Killander of Ulster Park, whose term expires in 1952.

Board members re-elected for three years were Vernon A. Barnhart, Stone Ridge; Mrs. James B. Crowell, Wallkill; Mrs. William Cruickshank, Big Indian; Mrs. Joseph Deegan, Kingston; Dr. Frederick W. Holcomb, Rosendale; Mrs. Stephen Huben, Rosendale; Mrs. William McNamee, West Hurley; Mrs. Raymond E. New Paltz; Mrs. C. Imbrie Richards, Highland; Dr. John Roberts, Kingston; Edmund P. Rochford, Kingston; Charles Snyder, Kingston; Herbert E. Thomas, Kingston; Ira V. D. Warren, Kingston; N. Jansen Fowler, Kingston.

for authority to look at the inner gambler's return of suspected gamblers and racketeers.

"I expect Mr. Truman to give us his cooperation and support," Tobey told reporters.

Other committee members are Senators Hunt (D-Wyo.), Wiley (R-Wis.) and O'Connor (D-Md.). One committee member said "I rather suspect" that the crime situation in Kansas City, Mo., would be discussed during the White House visit.

Democratic Leader Charles McNamara and his strong-arm lieutenant, Charles Gargotta, were shot down in Kansas City April 5. A federal grand jury report linked their murder with a gambling combine said to be operating in the Missouri city.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Craftsmen's Guild Is Seeking Memberships

Woodstock, June 1—The newly-enlarged membership committee of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen has just been announced by Mrs. Stuart Grant and Mrs. Joseph Marr, co-chairmen of this committee. They are Miss Mari Bollman, Woodstock, Mrs. Adolph Heckeroth, Woodstock, Mrs. Richard Lezatt, Saugerties, Mrs. Walter McTeigue, Woodstock, Mrs. Herman Oxendiner, Wittenberg, Mrs. Mallette Davis Russ, Kingston, and Mr. Alexander Semmler, Zena.

Annual membership renewals are being mailed to all 1949 members and an invitation to all who wish to join this non-profit educational institution has been issued in the form of an interesting leaflet presenting the aims and purposes of the Guild.

The Guild is a non-profit membership organization. One of Woodstock's educational institutions, organized in 1940 for the purpose of serving the student in the crafts as well as the skilled craftsman. It serves the student by providing low-cost instruction in the crafts, and the skilled craftsman by providing sales outlets for his finished product.

Bearsville School Discussed at Parley

Woodstock, June 1—A special meeting of the Bearsville school district was held on Monday night at the Odd Fellows Hall for a discussion on the pros and cons of school centralization.

Edmund Gilligan, who was appointed to preside as chairman for the evening, stated that the meeting had been called because the Bearsville school is losing its teacher, Miss Evelyn Stone, to the Ontario Central School District. Miss Stone has an exceptionally high official rating as a teacher.

Gilligan also stated that the meeting was not for the purpose of voting on centralization but to bring together those who would be best qualified to answer questions on the subject. He introduced Birge Simmons, Bearsville school trustee; Reginald Bennett, school superintendent of the district; Fred Cure of Big Indian, president of the board of trustees of the Ontario Central School; and John Egan, Woodstock attorney.

Explaining the present set-up, Gilligan said that the Ontario District includes Olive, Shandaken and a part of Woodstock, expressly Wittenberg, Willow and Lake Hill. Construction on the Ontario school has begun, he declared, and a bond issue of $150,000 to build and maintain the school had been voted. The total cost of the school will be $208,000 of which taxpayers in New York city will pay one half of the over-all sum of $1,000,000 since the New York city watershed is in the Ontario area.

He further stated that the Central School District will pay the cost of teachers, supplies and transportation and that no "double tax" would be involved. He reported that Bearsville taxpayers who send their children to Kingston High School have no legal control over Kingston but that they would have such control in the Ontario school.

Concluding his remarks Gilligan said that educational law requires that a central school be placed in the "geographical center" of the district. He then invited questions from the floor to be addressed to the gentlemen introduced earlier in the meeting.

In answering the first question: "What are the advantages for the individual child in the central school?" Reginald Bennett said that some rural schools are a disgrace and that although the Bearsville school is superior in many ways it still lacks advantages—once, a kindergarten. In the Ontario school he said there will be two or three kindergarten rooms. Bearsville, a one room schoolhouse, has all eight grades while at Ontario there will be a teacher for each class.

The kindergarten rooms have been carefully planned, he reported, with toilets and wash basins in each room and each has an outside door as a fire precaution. There will also be a specialized teacher for each grade. The school will also have a cafeteria, auditorium and gymnasium, and there will be a library for grades one through six and one for seven through 12. All children including the kindergarten will be transported.

In referring to the Bearsville school, Bennett declared that no school may be closed without the district taxpayers vote.

Outlining in detail plans for the Ontario school, Fred Cure said that separate age playgrounds have been planned and that classrooms will have outside doors for access to outside patios in order that classes may be held outdoors in warm weather. High school students, he said, will have a larger selection of subjects, agriculture, woodworking, in a shop, metal working, etc. A nurse will be in attendance for smaller children and buses scheduled in order that smaller children may leave home later and leave school earlier than the older ones.

In reply to the question concerning the qualifications a teacher must have to teach in a central or rural school, Cure said that a degree is required for a central school while a common school district requires only a common school district certificate which is the equivalent of a high school education.

Questioned on transportation, he stated that there will eventually be a new bus service but at present the existing buses would take the children to the school with a special plan for "feeder" buses from the outlying districts. Three jurisdictions are at present under observation but the matter of buses has not yet been entirely settled. Considerable discussion followed concerning sending small children long distances by bus in bad weather.

When the subject of taxes was introduced, John Egan stated that of the $10,000,000 total assessed valuation of the New York city watershed there is a $5,000,000 tax assessment against the Ashokan Reservoir which is in the Ontario School District. He cited an incident which occurred in 1938 when the City of New York adopted a new charter. The substance of the law was to remain the same in the case of the watershed with a few changes of no real importance. However, an alert lawyer in this area discovered a change of three words concerning the tax-free aqueducts stating that the "aqueducts and water supply appurtenances" were tax free. If it had gone through the City of New York would have been taxed only for the land which is valued around $200,000.

In the future, said Egan, New York may pay no tax whatsoever as the law requiring the taxes could be repealed tomorrow. If this revenue was suddenly reduced it would inevitably place a greater tax burden upon the Ontario school district. Under the present rate taxpayers in Bearsville pay a school tax of $11 per thousand and the increase would be to between $22 and $25 per thousand if the district joined Ontario.

After the meeting was adjourned, various discussion groups formed and it was understood that another meeting would be called soon to discuss the possibility of Bearsville contracting with the new Woodstock school.

Gallery Owners Elect

Officers for Year

Woodstock, June 1—The Artist Realty Company, Inc., owners of the Woodstock Art Gallery held their annual meeting of stockholders at the Woodstock Gallery, Friday, May 26 at 8 p. m.

Albert Heckman, president, opened the meeting and read the annual report which included the treasurer's report, the improvements to the building completed last year and the recommendations for further improvements.

In order to carry out further improvements, said Heckman, "it will be necessary to sell more of the 31 shares of capital stock now on hand." He expressed gratitude to the merchants and patrons of art for their purchase of stocks last season, and their awareness of a worth while community project of this kind. "The gallery is out of the red and in order to continue out of the red it is necessary that we have the support of the community."

Miss Florence Webster was re-elected to the board and Mrs. Helen Martin and Mrs. Henry D. Barrow were elected new members of the board. Mrs. Carl Eric Lindin was made an honorary vice president.

The present officers, Albert Heckman, president, Norbert Heckman, vice president, and Florence Webster, secretary-treasurer, were all re-elected to serve for the season.

To Visit Museum

Woodstock, June 1—The Woodstock Historical Society will hold its first monthly meeting of the season at the Senate House Museum in Kingston on Friday, June 16, at 3 p. m. The group is looking forward to a guided tour of the museum through the courtesy of Mrs. Terwilliger, curator, with special attention being paid to the newly acquired Cockendall collection of Vanderlyn paintings.

Memorial Association

Elects Mrs. Franckling

Woodstock, June 1—The Woodstock War Memorial Association held its annual Memorial Day meeting in the Woodstock Town Hall after the close of the service held by American Legion Post 1026. The resignation of the Rev.

H. I. Todd was accepted with regret and by a unanimous vote Mrs. Fennell Franckling was elected president. Grant Elwyn was re-elected vice president and Mrs. Margaret R. Kenyon was re-elected secretary and treasurer.

The resignation of Mrs. Seating Lenz as a trustee was also accepted with regret and plans for the coming summer season were discussed after which the meeting adjourned at 1 p. m.

Three Fined for Having

Illegal Trout Sunday

Woodstock, June 1—Russell Winne and William Murphy, both of Margaretville, were fined $25 apiece on Sunday, May 28, under Section 170 of the Conservation Law for possessing illegal trout. They were also fined $25 apiece under Section 180, Conservation Law, for failing to show their fishing licenses.

Arthur Kittle of Vastal, N. Y., was also fined $25 for possessing illegal trout under Section 170, Conservation Law. These men were apprehended near Pigeon Brook, town of Shandaken, by Game Protector Henry Bernstein. Fined here imposed by Justice of the Peace Joseph Fitzsimmons of Woodstock.

Village Notes

Woodstock, June 1—George Compton has arrived in Woodstock from Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Bradley and their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, spent Memorial Day week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bradley.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rysam spent the week-end in Woodstock. Miss Nancy Summers spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley G. Summers. Miss Summers brought with her as her guest from New York, Caroline Brocker.

Week-end guests at the Millstream Motel were William Nicholson, Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Jacobs, Don Davis and Elck Brown, all of New York. Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Cross of Dobbs Ferry, Mr. and Mrs. E. Lindemer of Kew Gardens, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Wessel, Chicago, Ill.

Five Students Are Killed

Itarlan, Ia, June 1 (AP)—Five high school students—three boys and two girls—were killed last night in an automobile-truck accident. A fourth boy, the driver of the car, was seriously injured. The students were celebrating graduation exercises held earlier last night at the Itarlan High School. Two of the dead and the injured youth had received their diplomas. Sheriff Orrell Gearhart of Shelby county said the car rammed into the rear of a six-ton fish truck loaded with live fish. The truck driver, Robert Bruce Pugh, 21, Spirit Lake, Ia., was not injured.

Woman, 30, Fires Bullet Into Child

New York, June 1 (AP)—An attractive 30-year-old woman pumped a .32-caliber bullet into the head of her sleeping four-year-old Chinese-American daughter early today to spare her being "pushed around the way I was."

The little girl, Toy Tom, daughter of an Irish-German mother and Chinese father, is in critical condition at Bellevue Hospital. The bullet apparently is still lodged in the child's head, police said.

The mother, Mrs. Emma Rose Curtis Tom, was booked on charges of felonious assault and violation of the Sullivan (weapons) law.

The shooting took place shortly after midnight in the four-room, fifth floor Tom apartment at 180 East 85th street.

Police said the little girl was shot once with a .32-caliber revolver bought some time ago by the mother. They said a second cartridge apparently jammed, while a third was found intact in the gun's chamber.

Mrs. Tom, a brunette with shoulder-length hair, said she was born and reared in Yeadon, Pa., and is of Irish and German parentage. The child's father, Jimmie Tom, is employed as a waiter at a Bronx Chinese restaurant.

Tomcats Are Evicted

Providence, R. I., June 1 (AP)—Three tomcats today were without the luxury of living in a 16-room mansion they had occupied alone for more than a year. The big house, a probate judge ruled, is better suited for human habitation. She evicted the cats. Mrs. Sophie H. S. Howarth, who died in

HIGHLAND NEWS

Highland, May 31—Week-end guests of Assemblyman and Mrs. John F. Waldin are their nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Milo Wadlin, Princeton, N. J.

Mrs. John O'Brien is entertaining her mother from Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. Gay Bradt has returned after visiting her daughter on Long Island.

Miss Marie Van Wormer spent the long week-end with her brother in Schenectady. Miss Marion Sykes drove to her home in Appenau, R. I. and John Crowley went to his home in Wilmington. All are members of the Central School faculty.

Mrs. D. H. Starr entertained the Monday bridge club and Thursday Mrs. Charles Whitaker was hostess to a foursome.

Mr. and Mrs. John Graham visited their daughter and family. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Brush and children, New Hyde Park, over the week-end.

Mrs. Philip Bravata, County P. T. A. director attended the district meeting in Newburgh Tuesday. She was accompanied by several members of the local Parent-Teacher Association of which Mrs. Bravata is president. The district includes Ellenville, Kerkonkson, Malden, Saugerties, Milton, Highland. The six directors were presented with corsages.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Jack Weaver, Delmar spent the week-end with the latter's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. A. Jerome Pratt.

Joseph Alfano, cashier of the First National Bank left Friday for Bermuda sailing on the S. S. Queen of Bermuda.

Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Nowicki and son, Binghamton, spent this week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon E. Wilcox.

The U. D. Society placed memorial flowers in the Presbyterian, Methodist and Episcopal Churches Sunday in memory of three deceased members. The purple and white iris used were the colors of the society.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherburne Sears and daughters and his mother, Mrs. Thomas Sears, took a drive over the new parkway with dinner in Catskill Saturday celebrating the birthday of the latter.

Chapter A, P. E. O. will meet Thursday evening with Mrs. LeGrand Haviland, Jr. Initiation will take place at this time.

Friends of the Rev. and Mrs. Dorello S. Haynes, Naples, have received papers and church bulletins telling of the 45th anniversary of the Presbyterian Church in Naples of which the Rev. Mr. Haynes is pastor. The first event was a tea Saturday

'Y' Day Camp To Open Eighth Season June 26

The Y.M.C.A. Day Camp (Pine Knoll) at DeWitt Lake, which will open its eighth season on June 26, is now over one-half full.

Will Husta, 10 Liberty street, son of the basketball star "Mickey" Husta, was the first camper to sign up for the 1950 season. This is the sixth straight year for the Husta boy to be at camp. Many other of last season have signed up along with some newcomers. Lou Schafer, Y.M.C.A. physical director, expects that during the first two weeks of June that the second 50 per cent of the campers will sign up.

The 1950 camp shirts just arrived and are on display at the Y.M.C.A. office for the convenience of campers. Mr. Schafer is working on many occasions at camp to have everything in order for the big opening on Monday, June 26. Besides John Vertetis and Mary Darling assisting in directing the day camp, there will be some new people on the staff. Paul Donohue, now a freshman at Springfield College, will be at camp along with several new senior and junior leaders, who will be named this coming week.

Mr. Schafer is planning on a special instruction night at his home for the camp assistants and counselors. This special night will be for instructions in the various crafts and the idea of checking and carrying out details at the water front during the swimming periods. Also play grouping will be a part of the evening's program. Mr. Schafer hopes that this eighth year of camp will be the most outstanding camp in supervised play as well as attendance.

Broaden is a Bird Van Nuys, Calif. GP—"Well, well, Santa Claus. Give me a kiss sweetheart. Let's take a bath. Oh, boy." This is not Cuddles LeLove greeting her sugar daddy, but a sample of the dialogue dished out by the talking Mynah bird owned by Ferd C. Peck, BA-O, which means "bird that talks." In the fowl's native India, is apt to repeat anything he overhears. "This can sometimes be disconcerting," says Peck. "BA-O mimics my voice so well I think I'm talking to myself." The mynah, a one-man sound effects department, can also imitate the sound of the doorbell, the telephone, make a knocking sound and say "come in."

afternoon at the manse. Nearly 200 people were served at a dinner in the church that evening. Men of the Methodist Church took over the kitchen in order that all of the Presbyterian congregation could participate in the meal. The production was made that the Presbyterian men would return the favor next year when the Methodist Church observes its 125th anniversary, and that when St. Januarius Church celebrates its 75th anniversary both churches would offer their services. Sunday morning services with a rededication sermon, gifts, greetings and special music. The Rev. Mr. Haynes was pastor of the local Presbyterian Church when the 150th anniversary was celebrated in 1944.

At a recent meeting of the town board a committee of three was appointed to suggest a recreation committee to prepare a former reservoir and the surrounding area as a park and swimming pool and beach. The following men have been named for that purpose: Joseph Sagarese, Harold Berean, W. E. Haviland, Albert Lester, Allan G. Hasbrouck, George Wilkowsky, Frank Marx, W. J. Upright. At the hearing on the purchase of a tractor with mower attachment for cutting weeds and the bids submitted were W. E. Haviland and Co., $1650; Franklyn Ford Equip. Co., $1594; W. Freehoffer, Inc., $1,950.50. The board decided on the purchase of the machine from W. E. Haviland. Some features of the machine were found to be of advantage. This purchase was advised by Highway Superintendent Allen Decker.

Iran Faces Opium Problem

Teheran (AP)—The poppies bloom white in Persian fields. The result: Opium—"living death" in the colorful Chinese phrase. Each year's crop is good news to medicine makers of America and Europe. From opium they derive pain-causing morphine and codeine. For narcotics men it's a new headache. Perhaps half of Persia's annual production of from 1,000 to 1,500 tons slips into illegal channels. It ends up in the pipes of addicts in sickly-sweet smelling dens from San Francisco to Singapore. Persia, or Iran, is a great opium producing nation along with Turkey and Yugoslavia.

You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

received an inquiry from Miss Hel H. Cook, of 1902 Cortelyou d, Brooklyn, N. Y., although I had been from Orlando, Fla. She said, "What year did the Consolidated Rosendale Cement Co. continue the manufacturing of cement?" I referred the lady to the experts, Jack Kelly, of the Rosendale Cement Manufacturing Co. of Rosendale and A. J. Snyder, of the same place.

Another Florida note came from Lakeland, from Mrs. George Fraser, of 615 Chatham Ave., who sent me the "Lakeland Ledger." On the front page a column called "Here and there about Lakeland" says and "wonder how many of the Lakelanders" you guessed it, the famous copy of "The County Gazette" is back in headlines. It is supposed to be published on Jan. 4, 1800, in which is death of George Washington, described. It further says that Arthur H. Bashore, of 219 West Magnolia street, a retired post office employee, brought the paper to "The Ledger" newsroom to print out the story. He said he probably would present the copy to the city library. No doubt Kingston, N. Y., is known by most barbers all over the country as the home of the famous "The County Gazette" of Jan. 4, 1800.

Mrs. Hendry of Albany street, who sends me many interesting items, said she recently found a drawing that her father had made of a stationary engine at the old Newark Lime and Cement Works. He didn't work there but he used to go there and sketch. She has a cousin, A. J. Finley, who lives at 61 1/2 street, Dumont, N. J., who lived here as a boy. She says when he is in New York on Fridays, he tries to get "The Freeman" so he can look through this column for familiar old times. He kept a scrap book about incidents covering old mills, stores, fires, explosions, river hoists, etc., and may send some stories to be used here.

J. Ostrander of 5610 Hudson avenue, West New York, N. J., writes some interesting items. I take it he was a boatman the way he describes the following: "I wonder how many can remember some of the high water that was looked for in the creek during the spring season? There was a log boom connected together with chains across the creek from the steamboat dock to the Slightsburgh dock, which held the floating ice back so the operation of the famous chain ferry (Skillypot) could continue. It was most exciting, if you were lucky enough to be on hand just at the moment this boom broke, to see the ice go out the Rondout creek. Everyone was happy for that meant the opening of navigation for the season.

He further writes: "I have seen water over the upper Island Dock and Wilbur, at which time Eddyville could be reached only by the back of the river. I remember such a scene that floated the boats that were on the flats over in South Rondout, where they had been grounded to be torn up for junk, by a wrecker, named M. Herold, who had a store on the Strand. One side wheel, two-horse, named 'The Sandy' was sunk right in front of the Cornell office. Another, 'S. O. Pierce' was lower down on the creek with her side stove in. A large side wheel tow-boat 'The Vanderbilt' was also adrift until a couple of tugs were able to get a line aboard and take her back to the dock.

"A number of canal boats and other water craft went out with the high water and the ice was so heavy in the river that a good many of them were wedged right together against this heavy ice and held there for some time.

No doubt many old boatmen remember those incidents.

Virginia and Ohio each have given seven presidents to the United States.

GARDINER

Gardiner, May 31—Mrs. Anthony Schiro and Mrs. Frank Boland spent Thursday in Newburgh.

Mrs. James Galbraith of Oneida is visiting her brother S. Woolsey.

Mass Grace Boland of Theills spent the week-end with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Denton.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Francis, Mrs. Edward J. Sears and the Misses Grace and Betty Francis of New York city were Sunday guests of Mrs. Stella Woolsey.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Tether and son of Barryville were Friday and Saturday guests at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jayne.

Mrs. George Johnson of Syracuse spent a few days of this week with her cousin Miss Edna Dugan.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Dewey and son, Ivan spent the week-end with Mr. Dewey's family at Malone.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ladew and two children of Teaneck, N. J., spent the week-end at their summer home here.

Bert Crump and sister, Miss Jessie Crump of New York spent the week-end here.

Miss Helen Moran of Theills spent the week-end at her home.

Miss Carrie Scrivens spent a few days of last week in New York visiting her brother, Richard Scrivens who is a patient at St. Francis Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Munson of Lake Katrine called on her aunt, Mrs. Stella Woolsey on Sunday afternoon.

Bobbie Wright son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Wright broke his leg when he fell while playing last week.

The Gardiner Fire Company was called to the Tucker farm last Thursday night when the barns burned, destroying 30 tons of hay. Eleven cows were saved.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed Church will meet for an all-day picnic at the home of Mrs. Courtney Whittemore on Wednesday, June 7. A covered dish luncheon will be served and Mrs. Whittemore will furnish dessert. The committee on arrangements is made up of Mrs. Raymond DuBois, Mrs. Grace DuBois, Mrs. Edythe Dunsberger and Mrs. Max Dittman.

Miss Liberty Glows Again

New York, June 1.—The light of liberty went on again today. The torch of the Statue of Liberty, out for two nights because of a cable break, went on again at 12:01 a. m. The break was several feet off shore in the cable that runs to Bedloe's Island from Black Tom, N. J., darkening the torch Tuesday night and last night for the first time since the wartime blackouts.

Columbian Squires To Receive Sunday

The Columbian Squires of Dr. Burtell Circle, No. 32, will receive Holy Communion Sunday at the 8:30 a. m. Mass in St. Ann's Church, Sawkill, and attend breakfast in the parish hall.

Celebrant of the Mass for the first corporate communion of the Squires, a junior order of the Knights of Columbus, will be the Rev. James A. Dunnigan, chaplain of the organization and pastor of St. Ann's.

The main address at the breakfast will be by County Judge John M. Caslin.

All young men of the area are invited to attend the Communion Mass and breakfast, reservations for which may be made with any member of the Circle.

An investiture is scheduled for Sunday at 2 p. m. in the Knights of Columbus building on Broadway at Andrew street.

The officers of the Columbian Squires are as follows: Raymond Simonely, chief squire; Joseph Hyena, deputy chief squire; John Morris, notary; James Smith, bursar; Edward Sanford, marshal.

Elder officers and directors are: Father James A. Dunnigan, prior; Joseph F. Saccoman, chief counselor; James Tobin, cultural; City Judge Raymond J. Mino, civic; Francis Noonan, social and physical.

Governors Serve 4 Years

Chicago (AP)—Being governor now is a four year job in most states. New Jersey extended the tenure from three to four years in 1948. Connecticut will lengthen the lease on the office from two to four years next January. By that time, says the Council of State Governments, 28 states will have four-year governors. The others have two year terms.

It's here! Procter & Gamble's latest, great discovery!

NEW! PATENTED!

cheer

SO GOOD you get the cleanest possible wash with the least possible work!

Years of research and experimenting in Procter & Gamble's laboratories led to the discovery of the newest clothes-washing marvel—CHEER.

CHEER was tested and tested—under all kinds of washing conditions. And the job it did was SO GOOD it surpassed the highest expectations of its makers.

Now CHEER is ready for you! And Procter & Gamble promises that it will give you the cleanest possible wash with the least possible work.

SO GOOD it washes clothes cleaner in ONE wash than any soap will in TWO!

It's true! Laboratory tests prove that CHEER is so good it gets clothes cleaner in a single wash than any soap you ever used will in 2 washings!

SO GOOD you can get a bright, clean wash even WITHOUT RINSING!

It's true! CHEER can give you a sweet, clean wash even without rinsing. Because CHEER holds dirt, so, when you wring out the suds—away goes the dirt.

You get the cleanest possible wash any "no rinse" suds can offer!

But if you do rinse, CHEER's your best bet for a cleaner wash than you'll get with any soap—any other type of washing product.

SO GOOD you get a snowy-white wash with NO BLEACHING! NO BLUING!

Without bleaching, without bluing—without help from anything—CHEER washes your white things clean as fresh snow. Your colored things look bright as new paint. Yet for all its power, CHEER is kind to hands, safe for washable colors.

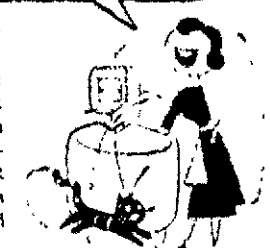

SO GOOD you get a film-free wash even IN HARDEST WATER!

CHEER suds come up thick and fast in water so hard the best soaps known give up the ghost. Leaves no sticky scum—in fact, CHEER removes the dulling film left on clothes by soap. You never need a water softener with CHEER!

SO GOOD you get a sparkling-clean wash even WHEN HOT WATER RUNS LOW!

The hotter the water, the better the wash. But when the hot water runs low, CHEER won't let you down. Study CHEER suds stand right up and go on fighting dirt and grease. But ever the temperature, CHEER will give you a cleaner wash than any soap in the world will at the same temperature.

Try cheer once...and you'll cheer forever!

CHEER is the trade-mark of a special all-purpose detergent made by PROCTER & GAMBLE in the U.S.A.

Investor Forum

by
Harry C. France

Every investor should be a law unto himself. The maze of political and economic forces loose in the world is tremendously confusing. And, since material values touch the universe at every point, it is highly important that every capitalist isolate himself as far as is possible from these forces when investment decisions are being made.

The soundness of this point of view is proved every day. There is a professional man in the Times Square district of New York city who is all confusion, all bewilderment. He telephones his broker half a dozen times a day. During his luncheon hours (he grabs a sandwich and a glass of milk), he sits in the brokerage office for half an hour.

He reads at least five different newspapers, devouring all the political and economic news that directly or indirectly seems to concern his wealth. His judgment and measurement of material values have never become stabilized nor will they under existing circumstances.

Last year he lost $12,000 trading in securities. That infuriated him because he could charge off only about 8 per cent of these losses against his income tax. He symbolizes perfectly that great army of investors who have been caught up in the noise and the turmoil of the times.

On the other hand, here is an investor in Missoula, Montana. He has never been in a stock brokerage office. He saves about a thousand dollars a year. It takes three days for his letter to reach his investment agent. A week usually passes before he knows what he actually paid for a security. He has never telephoned or telegraphed his broker.

The fever of the economic world at 42nd street and Broadway has never touched him. And it never will. He has never lost a dime in securities. He buys the best stocks in America. Yes, sometimes he buys them too high. But since his savings habits are systematic, he has the capital in hand occasionally and purchases them at low prices.

Fifteen years ago, he set up a schedule of saving and of investment. It would be effective if he lived in Alaska, Arabia or Afghanistan—so long as the mails get through.

Nobody can tell with any degree of certainty what is to happen in the economic and political world. One thing is certain: the storms and the stresses are to continue unabated. And all those people whose treasures are close to their hearts—to use a Bible term—had better develop a psychology patterned after the citizen of Missoula, Montana, and not after the jitterbug of Times Square. Lately, I have seen several bullets that go through the mails to guide investors in these troubled times and in them the advice has been to prepare for a market panic superinduced by an atomic attack! That is the worst over. The nerves of investors are badly enough frayed by the ordinary happenings in the political and economic world. The more sensitive a person is to the troubles all about us, the more important it is that such a person avoid getting entangled in the economic maelstrom.

The man in Missoula always asks many questions: (1) What kind of business is the corporation in; (2) What has been its common stock (the never buys bonds—and cheap money is the reason) dividend record and (3) What has been the price range of the shares for 10 years?

His investment psychology is simplicity itself. The ticker-tape means nothing to him. And the contagion of nervous traders is never experienced. His approach to investment is unburied and unemotional. It is an attitude to be commended to millions of American capitalists.

Cerebral Palsy Drive Here

In connection with the current Cerebral Palsy Drive in Ulster county, a cocker spaniel puppy will be auctioned. At the lawn of the court house, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy is shown handing his contribution to Betsy DeGraff. Others in the picture are Mrs. C. C. Stickles, Mrs. Christopher Morris, Mr. Morris, campaign manager; Dr. Henry L. Bibby, president; Sheriff George Smith. In the background with Mrs. William Gaffken are a number of school children. The dog was donated by the Tokalon Kennels. (Freeman Photo)

New York Seen As Saving Huge 'Lake' of Water

New York, June 1 (AP)—The water that New Yorker's haven't used in the past six months would create a 12-foot deep lake the size of Manhattan's 22 square miles.

City Commissioner of Water Supply Stephen J. Carney figuratively patted New Yorkers on the back yesterday as he pointed out these figures:

Amount of water in the city's reservoirs today—91.2 per cent.

The level last December when water supplies reached an all-time low—33.4 per cent.

The level which reservoirs would be today if residents had not been so cooperative in trying to conserve water—69.5 per cent.

To create this lake which will help the city get through the dry summer months, residents observed shaveless days, conserved dishwater, repaired leaky faucets and made other efforts. Carney had hoped to have the reservoirs full by this date.

Agrees on Legislation

Washington, June 1 (AP)—A Senate-House conference group has agreed on legislation to boost from 205,000 to 340,000 the number of displaced persons who might enter the United States. The group, assigned to iron out differences in bills passed by the two chambers, reached formal agreement late yesterday after weeks of discussion. Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), a member of the conference committee, said the compromise measure will be sent back to the two chambers today for final action.

Cordis Meeting

A regular meeting of Cordis Hose Company No. 8 will be held tonight at 8 o'clock, and it is requested that all members attend to discuss important business.

Yours - all Yours -

HERE'S where you come into your own.

For this roomy six-passenger Sedanet is the lowest-priced family-model Buick and the easiest to buy. But it has all the basic qualities that make every Buick a standout.

Unmistakable smartness, for instance, in its tapering fenders and money-saving Multi-Guard forefront.

A bonnet full of Fireball straight-eight power that spells thrills with real thrift.

Matchless Buick ride compounded of coil springs on all four wheels, ride-steadying torque-tube, low-pressure tires and Safety-Ride rims.

You can even have Dynaflo Drive* if you like—the first non-shifting transmission in which oil does it all.

But here's the point:

It doesn't cost a cent—doesn't obligate you in any way—to check all this—to try this Buick out. All you have to do is ask—and your Buick dealer will sit you behind the wheel—let you put this traveler through its paces—show you precisely how little it will cost you to step up to a Buick.

You'll never know what you are missing until you try a Buick. Come in, won't you—right away?

ONLY BUICK HAS Dynaflo
AND WITH IT GOES: ENGINE-COMPRESSION
Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New V-263 engine in SUPER models) • NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD fore-and-aft, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights • WIDE-ANGLE VISION, close-up road view both forward and back • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and maneuvering, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from coil springing, Safety-Ride rim, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional on extra road on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

Paul Robeson Denies Russian Gazette Article

Moscow, June 1 (AP)—The Literary Gazette says Paul Robeson's grandchildren are studying in a Moscow school.

Noting this, the Literary Gazette said yesterday the American Negro singer's grandchildren are adored by their classmates and in fact by the whole school.

Writing about Robeson's

"grandchildren" as well as about Spanish children who came here during Spain's civil war, the paper asked: "Is not the U.S.S.R. a second motherland for them?"

Robeson, now in London, said today he has no grandchildren and that his only son and his daughter-in-law now are in the United States. His son was married last June.

"I hope to have grandchildren some time," the leftist singer said, "but I don't know of any prospects right now."

Robeson added that perhaps the Literary Gazette spoke of his "grandchildren" because "I feel like a grandfather and protector of all children."

One Killed, 4 Are Hurt

Athens, Ga., June 1 (AP)—One University of Georgia student was killed and four others were injured in an auto accident last night. The Georgia Highway Patrol said Kay Keith, 20, of Jamaica, N. Y., was killed when an auto went out of control on a highway curve near Athens. Mickey Bearden, 21, of Walhalla, S. C., was in serious condition in Athens General Hospital today.

Cole, Marchuk Are Local Delegates

Two officers of Kingston Local 215, American Federation of Musicians, (A.F.M.), John A. Cole, president, and Michael J. Marchuk, secretary, will be among 1,500 delegates attending the 53rd annual convention of the musicians' union in Houston, Texas, from June 5 to 10.

They will take part in discussion of business important to 700 local representatives of 250,000 professional musicians in the United States and Canada.

Among the speakers scheduled for the session are James C. Petrillo, national president of the union, and Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin.

During the convention held every year since 1896, except two wartime years, officers will be elected and legislation discussed.

Traffic Topics

New York, June 1 (AP)—It started at 85th street and Madison avenue.

A passenger—whose name was not learned—said he dropped seven cents in the fare box yesterday. Bus driver James Coyne said he saw only two cents go in.

Finally, the driver, tired of the bickering, said:

"All right, forget it, Jack."

But the passenger wouldn't forget it. He kept jawing at Coyne as the big bus rolled down Madison avenue.

Eventually, Coyne had enough. He pulled to the curb at 81st street, gave each of his 30 passengers a transfer and told them:

"Everybody off the bus. I don't have to take this. I'm going back to the garage."

Off they trooped and watched him wheel around and drive to the north. Then they boarded another bus going downtown.

Out of their sight, Coyne turned around again, picked up a fresh batch of passengers and completed his run.

The company said his record was excellent. It did not indicate whether he would be disciplined.

Railroad Faces Charge

Sylacauga, Ala., June 1 (AP)—A quick getaway in a locomotive while under arrest will switch Engineer Jason McCullom into court here Monday.

The highballing railroader faces charges of speeding, resisting arrest, and escaping from police.

The speeding charge, said Mayor Ed Howard, was filed against McCullom because he ran a Louisville & Nashville passenger train through Sylacauga at too fast a clip.

Police rushed to the next stop and placed McCullom under arrest.

When police allowed the engineer to return to the train "for just a minute," McCullom opened the throttle, the mayor said, and highballed out of town so fast he almost got away without the conductor.

Once more the police set out after the locomotive. At the next town down the line, McCullom again was played under arrest, and released in $300 bond.

Monday he'll have to explain all the hoopla to the judge.

Commuters' Dream

New York, June 1 (AP)—A commuters' dream will glide out of the New York Central Railroad station at North White Plains, N. Y., today—a gleaming six-coach train on its initial run into Grand Central Terminal.

The electric-powered cars, costing $110,000 each, contain the following commuters' comforts:

Air conditioning; constant-voltage fluorescent lighting; electric-cooled drinking water; wide luggage racks; rubber tile flooring; rubber cushioned draft gears and roller bearing axle journals.

The train is painted green, black and gold. The New York Central says this unit is the first of a 100-car purchase which eventually will be placed in operation on its electrified territory on the Harlem and Hudson divisions.

The first train will make two round-trips daily between North White Plains and Grand Central. The new coaches are 85 feet long—16 feet longer than the old ones—and six to seven and a half inches wider inside.

Answer in Tree Top

Endicott, N. Y., June 1 (AP)—Police investigating attempts to wreck Erie railroad trains found the answer in a tree top.

Two boys, aged seven and nine, slid down to explain they "wanted to see a train wreck."

Police discovered a large steel bar and a line of stones for about 100 feet on a main line track. Heavy axle gears caught the rails.

That happened Monday night. Yesterday, the boys got a lecture from police and were turned over to their parents for discipline.

Will Sell Tickets

New York, June 1 (AP)—Commuter tickets which will halve the toll on the George Washington Bridge and the Holland and Lincoln Tunnels become effective June 15. The 40-trip tickets will be sold for $10. The rate by the trip is 50 cents. They will be good for 30 days. Tickets will go on sale June 5. They may be obtained by mail or in person at the treasurer's office of the Port of New York Authority, 111 Eighth avenue, New York, or for cash only at toll booths of the three crossings. They will be issued for only one car, the registration of which will appear on the ticket, and will not be transferable. They will not be sold to persons on foot, because of safety reasons.

Teachers Will Fight

New York, June 1 (AP)—The teachers' union says it will go to court in an effort to prevent the New York City Board of Education from appointing an "outside" trial examiner to hear charges against eight suspended teachers. The union, a unit of the United Public Workers (Ind.), made the statement last night after the acting state commissioner of education held that the board had "clear statutory authority" to employ a special consultant to conduct departmental trials. Dr. Lewis A. Wilson acted at Albany on a petition of the teachers, who were suspended May 3 after allegedly refusing to say whether they were or had been Communists.

$90,000 Is Awarded

New York, June 1 (AP)—A federal jury has awarded $90,000 to Mrs. Mary E. Person, of 224 Fort Lee Road, Bogota, N. J., for the death of her husband, William, in a construction job. Person, 32, was killed by electricity in 1946 while working on a construction job at Camp Shanks. His hand came in contact with a supposedly neutral guy wire, which turned out to be touching a 2,300 volt high-tension line. He left his widow and four children.

"Be kind to animals," all do say. Let's ponder those words on this day. What could be worse than trying to abuse four dumb animals, for which there's no excuse.

They're here for a purpose, we all do know.

And it's up to us to show that we have kindness in our heart by being human to our part.

They can't talk, please remember that. Always be gentle, give them a pat. Be patient, tolerant, animals need attention.

They're your friends, show some affection.

S.P.C.A. asks for this association. Which helps to see animals receive consideration.

Their collection has begun, will you please try.

To give your help, on you they rely. BLANCHIE CHERKINICK

Divorce Is Granted

Santa Monica, Calif., June 1 (AP)—Her movie actor husband threw her on the floor and shouted: "If you try to get up I'll kill you. I'll break your neck," tennis player Beverly Baker said in divorce court yesterday.

She was awarded an uncontested degree from Scotty Beckett, 21, screen juvenile. They married last September and have no children.

Bard College Plans First Parents' Day

Annandale-on-Hudson, June 1—Bard College will hold its first Parents' Day on Saturday, June 3.

More than 150 parents of Bard students are expected to attend.

The program, which has been planned by a special faculty committee, under the chairmanship of Dr. Gerald De Gre, will open with a general meeting at which President Fuller and Dean Casady will report on future plans of the College.

A dance and music workshop will then be presented, followed by receptions given by the faculties of each of the four divisions of the college.

In the evening, the guests will have an opportunity to see a performance of "The Cherry Orchard" by Chekov, the final production of the year of the theatre group.

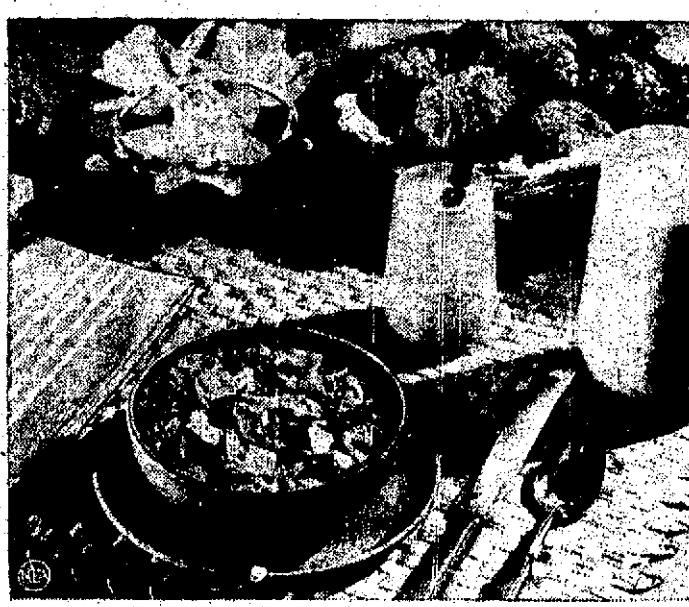

Edward Johnson Retires

New York, June 1 (AP)—Edward Johnson, 71, retired today as general manager of the Metropolitan Opera Association, a post he held for the past 15 years.

His successor is Vienna-born Rudolf Bing, 48.

A Good Breakfast Starts a Husband's Day Right

BRAN BLUEBERRY MUFFINS and corn flakes are stamina-building foods which help a husband start his working day right.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

"A happy husband is a healthy husband."

That's a dish of advice to 1950 brides from a lovely 1949 bride.

She's Mrs. John Kraushaar, 319 Avenue C, New York city. Her husband is a sales engineer.

Rita, who made the trip to the altar just over a year ago, feels that her husband needs to start the day with an adequate breakfast.

She believes that a young bride should prepare a good breakfast every morning. In turn, she finds that her husband's day will run much smoother. Also—and this is important—he'll be more cheerful and a lot happier for it.

John, a sales engineer, says a good breakfast makes him think better. Rita believes that if she does her part in providing a good breakfast, her husband will be able to turn out more work during the morning. Like all brides, she wants her man to get ahead.

The Kraushaars usually start with fruit or fruit juice. The favorite cereal at their house is bran flakes with milk. They complete the meal with some kind of bread or toast and butter, and, of course, coffee. For a special breakfast treat, Rita makes bran griddle cakes.

Here's her recipe for 1950 brides.

Bran Griddle Cakes (About 2 dozen)

One and three-quarters cups milk, 1 cup whole bran, 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons sugar, 2 eggs, well beaten, 1 tablespoon melted fat.

Pour milk over bran; let soak 5 minutes. Sift together—flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add eggs to bran mixture. Add dry ingredients; mix enough to dampen. Add fat; mix in quickly.

Add a little more milk if necessary to make batter of thick pouring consistency. Bake on a hot greased griddle, turning to brown when cakes bubble on top. Serve hot with syrup.

Here's another aid to happiness all day long.

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

Significant shifts are taking place in business thinking and in sentiment. These shifts can have great influence on the boom.

Let me drop a moment to review "opinions" at the start of the year. Then you will recall, the almost universal opinion was that the first six months of 1950 would be active and prosperous; but that a falling off was to be expected in the second half.

From a contrary analysis, one would then look for a slowing up early in the first half, as businessmen prepared for the probable recession; or, if optimism remained at high levels, the boom would last throughout the year.

It has now as if the second contrary alternative was the better guess.

Businessmen have doubted the extension of the boom, but the buying public has not.

The result is that demands remain high—and are apparently growing. Indeed, demands are such that price-increases have appeared in a large number of commodities and in raw materials. Some shortages are likewise appearing, notably in steel, and in building products.

While the "public boom" has continued, businessmen and investors have kept their fingers crossed. Only very recently has there appeared any evidence that business planned on further expansion.

However, at the annual meeting of the General Motors Corporation, May 19, Chairman Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., made some statements that deserve thoughtful consideration because they are so different from the opinions of the General Motors' officials a year ago. A year ago, you remember,

Mr. Sloan and other G.M. bosses, thought that the temporary saturation point for new cars lay close ahead. Instead, public demand increased.

At the annual meeting on May 19, Mr. Sloan completely reversed this opinion and plainly implied that General Motors may seek additional capital for further expansion and development purposes. His remarks were headlined that he was "amazed by the opportunities ahead."

"As I look around General Motors' field of operations today," he said, "and see the opportunities that present themselves I am truly amazed. There appears to be possibilities for the profitable employment of our capital and knowledge everywhere one turns."

These comments of the head of General Motors are emphasized because they reflect a significant shift in sentiment which—coming from the largest manufacturing corporation in America—may well have great influence on other corporations.

Shortly after the above meeting, the settlement with the union was announced and the five-year agreement only confirms the optimism with which General Motors views the future.

Thus, it seems to me, the boom has received a big forward kick. So long as business remained cautious and did not over-expand an early bust was not probable. However, if we now find that business as well as the public steps up its buying and expansion then we shall have something to be concerned about.

It is well to keep in mind that booms do not end until speculation breaks out. Because of the cautiousness of businessmen and speculators and investors there has been little reckless speculation up to now. However, it would not take much urging for speculation to break out.

The public has been speculating in the buying of "things"—television sets, home equipment, automobiles, and such products—but the markets have been relatively calm.

It appears to be a fair guess that we shall witness an outbreak of speculation in other fields soon. The recent upshoot in prices, and the widespread increase in "paper buying" (installment sales, mortgages, credit terms), are the stimulants that bring about speculation.

It has been generally reported that the General Motors agreement with the union indicates "stability." From a contrary viewpoint, the agreement is inflationary and may well kindle renewed optimism—and speculation.

In sum, it looks to the Ruminator as if the boom may at last run into the exciting stage and that inflation will lead to a blow-off.

Local Death Record

Funeral services for Mrs. Edith Quick were held Monday afternoon from the late residence in Rosendale. The Rev. Stanley Dean of Holy Cross Church officiated. Services were largely attended by relatives and friends and the floral tributes were many and beautiful. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery, Stone Ridge.

Funeral services for Alvin Post of East Kingston who died in this city on Monday after a long illness, were held this morning from the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, the Rev. Frederick H. Demming of the East Kingston Methodist Church officiating. Services were largely attended and the floral tributes were beautiful. Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Alton Sample of Accord, Mrs. Jacob Delamater of Beacon, and Mrs. Ada Smith of East Kingston; three brothers, Edward and Joseph Post of East Kingston and Clarence Post of this city, also several nieces and nephews. Bearers were Frank Tierney, Stephen Post, Robert Barnhart and Arthur Chase. Burial was in Wiltyck Cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Teresa Turk was held in the M. A. Galletta Funeral Home on Wednesday at 10:30 a. m., thence to St. Mary's Church where at 11 o'clock a solemn Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. Edward J. Farrelly. The Rev. Austin Carey was deacon and the Rev. John A. Flaherty, subdeacon. Responses were sung by the children's choir. Members of the clergy calling at the funeral home to offer prayers during the period of bereavement were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Murlin J. Drury and the Rev. Father Flaherty. There were many floral pieces attesting to the esteem in which Mrs. Turk was held, and a procession of spiritual beings in the form of Mass cards. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery. Plans Visit to U. S.

Washington, June 1 (AP)—President Aulof of France will visit the United States next March. The White House announced today that the French President and Madame Aulof are expected to arrive in the United States for a state visit in the second half of March, 1951. Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said the visit will be in response to a long-standing invitation. Details are to be arranged later.

Draft Extension Sought

Washington, June 1 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson appeared today for a three-year extension of the draft act to keep the United States "in a state of alert" against possible attack. Johnson told the Senate Armed Services Committee numerous "incidents" in the cold war—including the Russian atomic explosion—make it necessary for this country's armed forces to be in a state of readiness.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 1 (AP)—Profit taking nipped a rising stock market today.

Early gains were reduced and in some cases wiped out. The net result was a scramble of fractional gains and losses.

Radio-television issues were prime favorites during the morning, a couple advancing more than a point, but they backed down with the rest of the market.

Yesterday TV stocks moved well in front of the rest of the market although closing under the best marks of the day.

International Nickel held up better than most other issues, rising a bit more than a point at one time on top of an advance of 1½ yesterday. Late Wednesday the company announced an increase in the price of nickel.

Still higher were Admiral Corp., Emerson Radio, Philco, Radio Corp., Zenith, Motorola, U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Goodrich, Phelps Dodge, Eastman Kodak, American Can, Texas Co., and U. S. Gypsum.

Forced into the minus column were General Motors, Chrysler, Studebaker, Caterpillar Tractor, American Telephone, American Smelting, Philip Morris, Pennsylvania R.R., Southern Railway, Eastern Air Lines and Johnson & Johnson.

Corporate bonds moved narrowly. U. S. Government bonds held steady in over-the-counter dealings.

Quotations by Morgan Davis & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, 60 Beaver street, New York city, branch office, 41 John street, R. B. Osterhoudt, manager.

Mrs. Katie Ilgner, who has just moved to Kingston from Munich, Germany, and her two children, Gunther and Ingrid, are welcomed to their new home by Mrs. Irma Herrington, who presented them with a basket of gifts from the 10 merchant sponsors of the "Welcome Wagon." Mrs. Ilgner's husband is still in Germany, but hopes to join his family who will live at 170 Henry street. (Freeman Photo)

HIGHLAND

Highland, June 1—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Howard returned to Onondaga Monday after spending the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wright Lent.

The Friday Bridge Club met last week with Mrs. Philip Williams.

Holiday guests of Assemblyman and Mrs. John F. Wadlin were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hasbrouck, Poughkeepsie, and Miss Laura Harcourt.

Borden Upright and his nephew, Robert, Soule, Hartford, Conn., spent Tuesday with the former's mother, Mrs. W. J. Upright.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cox were called to Valley Stream last week by the death of the former's stepfather, Emil Rolser.

Mrs. W. B. Taber is confined to her home this week by illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Erdell Lawson, two daughters and son, Homer, spent Friday to Tuesday with Mrs. Lawson's mother, Mrs. Jesse Alexander.

Mrs. Edward Hubbard and Miss Shirley Hubbard, Pawling, spent part of Monday with Miss John Thoben.

Miss Eliza Raymond accompanied the Misses Dorothy Haight and Ruth Forsberg to Round Lake Saturday as they took Mrs. Dora R. Haight to her home.

Miss Edna Curry was in Kingston Monday the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Theodore Chamberland.

Owing to the small attendance at the meeting of the U. D. Society Saturday afternoon with Mrs. George DuBois no business was conducted.

Mrs. Louise E. Smith leader of the Senior Scout girls accompanied them on a picnic Saturday at Norrie Point Park. Miss Eleanor Flint, public health nurse, who has been giving the girls instructions in bedside nursing, was one of the party. Others included the Misses Elizabeth Wadlin, Jean Ann Cox, Rose Miller, Rosemary Lord, Lavonne Tatum.

Mrs. M. Teas is to be hostess to the meeting of the W.C.T.U. Thursday, June 8. Mrs. George Cornell, director of Flower Missions and Relief will arrange the program. Election of officers will take place. Mrs. E. H. Faust is the present president.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Carey, Greenbush, Mass., were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schulte, North road.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dirk and daughter Patricia and Henry Erickson spent the holiday week-end at their camp on Ulster Lake.

Mrs. John J. Gaffney left Monday for Poughkeepsie to visit her daughter, Patricia, a student at State College and who was injured in an automobile accident this spring in such a manner that she will have to wear a cast for some months. Miss Gaffney was given full credit for her junior year and an A rating for her first teaching semester.

Miss Eliza Ives Raymond displayed each Memorial Day probably the oldest flag in this vicinity. It was made by her mother and a group of young women in Raymilton, Pa. The 38 stars are each set in the blue by hand work and the red and white stripes put together on the machine. It measures nine feet, nine inches wide and 14 feet long. It is made of wool bunting.

Mrs. and Mrs. Albert Winsor Buckbee, Warwick, called on friends here Tuesday.

Miss Charlotte Gaffney, daughter of Supervisor and Mrs. J. J. Gaffney and a student at Mount St. Vincent College underwent an appendectomy Saturday at St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

She will enter Mount St. Vincent Hospital, New York, to take an extension course in nursing. She has been voted the outstanding nurse major of her class.

The W.C.S.S. will meet Friday afternoon in the Methodist Church parlor with Mrs. John F. Wadlin presiding as the newly elected president. Hostesses are Mrs. Corde Allen, Mrs. Ewen Bennett, Mrs. Gordon E. Wilcox, Mrs. Harry Wezenaar, Mrs. Fred Wilsey.

Members of the Mission Circle will serve a luncheon in the Presbyterian church hall Friday.

Father Is Arrested

Indianapolis, June 1 (AP)—Police said today they had questioned 12 boys about the removal of a stop sign that led to the death of a school teacher here last week. The father of one of the boys was arrested, Lt. Forrest Higgins, head of the juvenile aid division, said one of the boys admitted removing

City Engineer Is To Review Plans

Plans for the proposed development by Raymond E. Craft and James W. Millard near Grand View avenue, were referred to the city engineer for study and recommendation, at a meeting of the Kingston Planning Board last night.

The plan was announced at the May Common Council session and the letter read then said the project on the former Papillo farm would open the way for "25 to 40 homes."

Craft and Millard were buying a portion of the farm, the letter said, and they have an option on adjacent land. It is planned to build homes under $10,000 in the area, they announced.

The planning board also voted to hold a public hearing on its rules and regulations as now established and announcement of the date will be made later.

Legislation on the duplication of street names in the city is expected in the near future also following a report at last night's session that no opposing letters or comment had been received on giving new names to streets with similar or duplicate names.

City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan reported progress in his preparation of the master plan map which will be used as a general guidance to the board.

22 Couples Seek Licenses

New York, June 1 (AP)—Love laughs at rainy weather. Despite a steady rain 22 couples rushed to the marriage license bureau today, most of them hoping to get the first June license issued. But the first in line, who had waited two hours, had to take the second certificate because they were a little slow in making out the application. They were William A. Schiff, 24, of Brooklyn, and Helen Blum, 19, of the Bronx. License No. 1 went to Benjamin Stein, 22, of the Bronx, and Lila Cahn, 20, of Brooklyn, who were a little faster than the others in filling out their application. In the first 45 minutes 22 licenses were issued.

Dr. Johnson Dies
Batavia, N. Y., June 1 (AP)—Dr. William D. Johnson, 80, a former president of the New York State Medical Society, died today.

Four First Prize Winners in Beautiful Child Contest

Here are the "official" portraits of the first prize winners in the Old Dutch Fair—most beautiful girl from three to seven, most beautiful boy from three to seven, most beautiful girl from one to three, and most beautiful boy from one to three. Left to right the winners are: Carleen Frances Schneider, four, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Bohan, 144 Hurley avenue; Mary Katherine Fowler, two, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jansen Fowler, 18 Delta Place; and Robert Wayne Smith, 16 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith of Port Ewen.

Kenneth J. McGrath of Hurley Marries Daughter of Dickinson College President

Carlisle, Pa., June 1—Miss Wilma Wilcox Edell, daughter of Dr. William W. Edell, president of Dickinson College, and Mrs. Edell, and Kenneth J. McGrath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Michael McGrath, of Hurley, were married on Sunday afternoon, May 28, in the President's House of the college. President Edell performed the ceremony in the presence of many members of the faculty and officials of the college and friends.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Dr. J. Wesley Edell, of Baltimore, Md., wore a white gown of Chantilly lace over white satin with long train, and a bride veil of illusion falling from a pearl coronet. Her jewels were a single strand of old pearls, and her "something borrowed" was a lace handkerchief carried by a Maryland bride in 1892. She carried a

Retirement Dinner Held in Honor of Millard Layman

A retirement dinner for Millard Layman of 157 Green street was held last night at Black Swan Inn, Kingston. Mr. Layman had worked for the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company nearly 25 years, for 12 years as an operator at the Jansen avenue station in Kingston.

There were 50 Central Hudson employees present, including two guests, retired operators William Walde, Sr., of Saugerties, Fred Relyea of Rifton, John O. Puchas of Poughkeepsie, general production operating manager, acted as master of ceremonies, Robert H. Pixley, Kingston, supervisor of power plant, and said he was sorry to lose him. Mr. Pixley, on behalf of the employees, presented Mr. Layman with gifts of fishing tackle and money.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Malcher, Sr., 442 Main street, Poughkeepsie, announce the engagement of their daughter, Emma Jane Malcher, to William H. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Smith of Ohioville, near New Paltz.

Miss Malcher was graduated from the Arlington High School and is employed by the Kathel Manufacturing Co. Mr. Smith attended New Paltz schools and is now associated with the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad in Maybrook. No date has been set for the wedding.

Bard College Plans 6th Dance Workshop

Annandale-on-Hudson, N. Y. — Bard College will present its sixth Dance Workshop on June 8, 9, 10. The three performances will start each evening at 8:30 o'clock. Zoe Warren, its her senior project, will give a dance version of the first part of Goethe's "Faust" with music by Clair Leonard, associate professor of music, and Theodore Prochazka, a music student. The second half of the program will consist of new choreography by Claire Weigt, assistant professor of dance, to music by Clair Leonard.

Girl Scout News

Troop 7498 Blessed The tea attended by girls of Troops 63 and 71 of St. Mary's and their mothers was highlighted by the presentation and blessing of the American flag and the flag of Troop 71. These were presented by Mrs. George Bishop and her daughter, Dolores, and were accepted for the troop by Mary Ann Richards and Catherine Corcoran. The Rev. John Farrelly gave a talk on the American flag and the meaning of the troop flag. The girls who are working on the Good Grooming badge gave a fashion show. Models were: Kathleen Barry, beach clothes; Gail Pieper, play clothes; Patricia Perry, school clothes; Betty Ann Otto, party clothes. The group played games with prizes awarded to the winning mothers. Party favors were tulips made of lollipops and gum drops.

The word "auspices" comes from the Latin "avis" meaning a bird, and "spicere" meaning to look at.

Marionettes Receive Final Touches for Hobby Show

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Herrick, and their pupil in the art of puppetry, Bert Bishop, Jr., (right), make their wooden charges ready for their appearance at the first annual Hudson Valley Hobby Show to be held at the municipal auditorium June 13, 14 and 15. The marionettes will be just one of dozens of exhibits featuring "hobbies in action" at the show, which is sponsored by the Kingston Y.W.C.A. (Free-man Photo)

Wooden People With Brains on String Will Be Among the Hobby Show Displays

Little wooden people, mimics of the human race, but with their brains at the ends of tiny threads, will be a feature of the Hobby Show to open at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium June 13 for a three-day stand.

Presented by the local Y.W.C.A., the first annual Hudson Valley Hobby Show will be open to the public on June 13-14-15, featuring among many varied exhibits the Herrick Marionettes together with the achievements of young Bert Bishop who has already produced his own brand of puppet under the direction of Ronald and Jane Herrick.

According to Ron Herrick, major domo of the Herrick wooden noddies, (some of them are plastic wood made in molds, while others are solid pine), the word puppet comes from the Latin "pupa," meaning doll, "and marionettes are string puppets." The word marionette possibly is derived from "Little Mary," often a character in puppet shows of a religious nature during the past ages.

Puppet shows are anything but a new art—evidence of their existence have been unearthed in the old tombs of the Greek and Roman days—but their revival is somewhat recent, and they are the interesting hobby of the Herricks and their young pupil, Bert Bishop.

The Herricks make their own marionettes, "and then we find out how they work." Heads for the figures are modeled first in clay, then a plaster cast is made, and a plastic wood head is cast in the plaster cast. Ron Herrick pointed out that one reason for this type of construction is the necessity of duplication of characters when a change of costume is desired in a play—the normal nine threads operating the marionette are attached through the clothing and thus it is not possible to change costumes.

"A six-foot man is a 24-inch puppet," said Jane Herrick, indicating the scale to which the Herrick figures are constructed (more than 100 to date.) Bert Bishop displayed a bullfrog—"no special character," he said,—and a clown of his own, on roller skates.

Sugar pine is the wood used for the main parts of the puppets, and even the hands were carved from this wood until recently when it was found that casting them of a rubber composition was more satisfactory.

In the Herrick productions, Ron Herrick does the modeling, Jane does the costuming, Ron paints the scenery for the miniature stage settings and also makes the "props," and Jane "bosses the entire job."

"The joints of the marionettes are just like human joints with the exception of the shoulders which are much more pliable," said Jane Herrick, who exhibited the methods by which the characters on the strings work. But Ron proudly exhibited one of the latest attractions, a "kooky dancer," complete with grass skirt whose joints were "the ball and socket joint which certainly is not similar to that of a human!"

The Herrick Marionettes perform as spot acts—individual puppets performing without benefit of settings—and as characters in regular plays with the settings produced by Ron Herrick. One prop exhibited by husband Ron was a tiny grand piano, destined to appear in one of the coming productions. The Herricks make their own adaptations of the story,

Miss Nancy D. Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Davis, 172 Wall street, will be graduated from Russell Sage College, Troy, Sunday afternoon. She took a pre-medical course and was chairman of decorations for her class on "Rally Day," an annual campus event.

Teachers Spurn Proposal
New York, June 1 (AP)—Two of three teachers' organizations have turned down a proposal that they resume extra-curricular activities while a fact-finding group studies their wage increase demands. The A.F.L. New York Teachers Guild and the Teachers Union, Local 535, United Public Workers (Ind.) yesterday turned down the proposal made Tuesday by Board of Education President Maximilian Moss and Superintendent of Schools William J. Jankel. A third group, the High School Teachers Association, said last night it was "giving serious consideration to the proposal."

Ella Katherine Breithaupt Becomes Bride Of Frank Joseph Erceg in Saugerties

Miss Ella Katherine Breithaupt, daughter of Mrs. Ethel Breithaupt, 463 Main street, Saugerties, was married Sunday to Frank Joseph Erceg, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Erceg of Centerton, in a double ring ceremony at St. Mary's Church, Saugerties, performed by the Rev. Raymond A. Hyland.

John Keely, soloist, sang traditional wedding selections, and Mrs. William Johnson was organist.

Given in marriage by her brother, Ward Breithaupt, the bride wore a gown of white tulle with a Peter Pan collar trimmed with seed pearls, long pointed sleeves, and a train. Her veil was caught to a headpiece trimmed with pearls.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Joanne Spaulding, of Malden, sister of the bride, who wore a aqua frosted marquisette with a matching lace marquisette picture hat and carried carnations and pink roses. Mrs. Dorothy Marksbury, of June street, Saugerties, also a sister, was bridesmaid, wearing a gown of canary yellow frosted marquisette with a matching lace crown, and carrying yellow carnations and roses.

Vincent Pavlak of Centerton was best man, and ushers were Peter Erceg, brother of the groom, and Joseph Zinkow, both of Centerton.

After a reception at Beverly Manor for 200 guests, the couple left for a wedding trip to Albany. For traveling the bride wore a navy dress with blue accessories and a gray topper, with a gardenia corsage. The couple will live at 228 Partition street, Saugerties.

The bride attended Saugerties High School and is employed by the L. L. Russell Corp. The groom served three and a half years in the Army, and is now with the North American Cement Corp.

Bristol Rallies to Nip Colonials, 9-6; Po'keepsie Takes League Lead

Visitors Break Tie In Eighth Inning To Upend Kingston

The baseball purists may find some consolation in the Colonials' 9 to 6 loss to Al Barilari's Bristol Owls last night in the vast and humid emptiness of municipal stadium.

But it's tough to surrender a 6-2 edge and eventually lose a ball game regardless of the illegitimacy of the run making.

All of Kingston's six runs were unearned but they were still battling for the win as late as the eighth inning when the Owls broke a 6-6 deadlock with three tallies.

As a result of last night's loss, Kingston lost its percentage point league lead to the Poughkeepsie Chiefs who clubbed Torrington by 12 to 2 behind Earl Moscovitz. Poughkeepsie now has a full game lead over both the Colonials and the Waterbury Tigers.

One of the finest relief pitching stints ever seen at the stadium blanketed the Colonial hopes after they had chased starter Frank Daley. Manager Barilari came up with one Bill Rothemel who proceeded to shakele the men of Gall with two scattered hits over seven and one third innings.

Bernier's Homer Decides

Johnny Manopoli yielded a pair of runs in the first, third and fifth innings before the Owls clubbed him into submission in the eighth. The big blow was a 350-foot homer over the left field fence by Carlos Bernier, the Bristol speed demon. The Owls were leading 7-6 and had a man on base when Bernier stroked relief Bill McKever's first pitch over the left field barrier.

It was the first homer at the stadium since the picket fence went up. A dazzling stop by third baseman Dick Kelly on Joe Sposa's smash saved starter Daley in the first stanza and he would have been in the clear in the second but for a bobbie by shortstop Warren Hurt.

With two out, the roof fell in on Daley. Before the rally ended ten men batted and six scored. Johnny Manopoli sliced a single past first scoring Aspromonte with the first tally. Walther doubled and Harvey Porter crashed a two-run single. A walk to Chico Gerard and Gerald Murvey followed with a two-run double.

Rothemel relieved Daley with two out and got Frank Merola, battling for the second time on a fly to right field. He pitched flawlessly the rest of the way, yielding only a tainted hit to Joe Sposa in the seventh. Charlie Aspromonte closed out a Colonial threat in that frame by jamming into a force play for the final out with runners on second and third.

Bernier and Escalera worked a double steal for a Bristol run in the first and Dick Kelly's single accounted for another. Singles by Escalera and Herb Horowitz and a two-base error by Merola netted another pair in the third.

La France 'Beamed'

The Owls tied it at 6-6 with two in the fifth inning in which catcher Roger La France was clipped on the left side of the head by a pitched ball. He fell to the ground but didn't lose consciousness, and later was taken to Kingston Hospital for observation.

Johnny Kall's single sparked the Bristol rally in the eighth. Warren Hurt moved him up with the bunt and Rothemel drilled a single to left for a 7-6 count. That brought on Bill McKever in place of Manopoli and Bernier to the plate. One pitch and a little white sphere sailed over the left field fence.

SIDELINERS: Threatening weather reduced the crowd to a handful. The start of the contest was delayed 15 minutes because of an extra inning Jayvee ball game between Kingston and Marlborough which ended at 7:39 p. m. In the meantime, the Bristol players were unable to get into the dressing room to change clothes. There was no batting practice for either side. Rudy Karson's net peg to second appeared to have the feet Bernier nailed on a steal in the fifth inning but Umpire Daigle said "no." And the Colonials stormed around him in a slight rhabarb. Carlos eventually scored the "hole" for a beautiful stop and throw to retire Kall in the fourth. Johnny opened up with a single double and walk, before he drew a K and a DP. Manager Al Barilari replaced La France as catcher. He is without a doubt the scrappiest, noisiest, most aggressive catcher in the league.

Colonial Roundup

(By The Associated Press)

Torrington got Emil Moscovitz for a dozen hits, but couldn't do much with them as the Poughkeepsie pitcher rapped out a timely single and a 325-foot home run to help the Chiefs down the Braves 12-2 in a Colonial League game before 150 fans last night.

The Chiefs put together 10 hits and four Torrington miscues for their final tally.

Catcher Frankie Eraca, who left the game in the fifth inning after being struck in the right elbow by a ball, went to a hospital for X-ray examination.

Phil Rothemel's brilliant relief pitching enabled Bristol to overcome a four-run deficit and upend Kingston 9-6 before a sparse crowd of 250 who sat through a light drizzle to witness the contest.

Rain caused the postponement of the Bridgeport-Waterbury game.

South African Is New Bantam King

Johannesburg, South Africa, June 1 (AP)—Manuel Ortiz, the gritty little California Mexican, faced an uncertain future today while the ring world acclaimed a new bantamweight champion—South African's Vic Towel.

Towel, a 23-year-old former wood curver, wrested the crown from Ortiz with an undisputed 15-round decision last night in Johannesburg's Wembley Stadium.

The finish presented a paradoxical picture. Towel, the victor, was bleeding from over one eye and his nose. Ortiz, the vanquished, was unmarked.

But there was no question of the outcome in the minds of 27,000 fans, who stormed the ring afterwards singing, "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," or ringside observers, who gave Towel from 10 to 12 of the 15 rounds.

Even Ortiz, a battle-weary ex-champion at 33, conceded he was a licked man.

"Towel's a great fighter but his punch was not hard enough to hurt me," said the pride of El Centro, Calif.

Tops Westbury Feature

Westbury, N. Y., June 1 (AP)—Jeff Hanover, a five-year-old trotter, captured the featured Groton mile trot last night at Roosevelt Raceway in 2:07 1/5. Both favorites, Try Hussey and Reach Up, finished out of the money as Ballard Hanover took second and Chestnut P. Spencer third.

Boxing Guild Threatens Garden Bouts With Demand for Radio, Video Receipts

New York, June 1 (AP)—Fight managers began a "squeeze" today on the International Boxing Club in an effort to get a half-share of the fat radio and television spoils.

The old contract between the Managers Guild and the I.B.C., which controls bigtime boxing here, expired at midnight.

The managers vow they won't sign for another fight until the I.B.C. cuts these extra receipts down the middle with half of it going to the program's principals.

The I.B.C. says it can't do it, without entailing a loss. It's willing to make concessions but none of that "50-50" business.

That's the stalemate presented today, threatening continuance of ring shows in Madison Square Garden.

Under the old contract, main go fighters received $1,000 each from the approximately $16,500 coughed up by TV-radio sponsors of the Friday night Garden bouts.

Harry Markson, managing director of the new promotional combine that took over Mike Jacobs' old Twentieth Century Club, insists the fighters are benefiting from this extra gravy through enlarged purses.

Memo to Brooklyn—beware the St. Louis Cards.

Cheeks still burn on the Cardinal bench at the memory of the May 18 horrors of Ebbets Field.

That was the day St. Louis blew an 8-0 lead and lost to the Dodgers, 9-8.

Strong men still blanch at the thought of Tommy Glaviano's three successive errors in the ninth inning. Glaviano and Manager Eddie Dyer never will forget it.

The experts wrote the Cards' obit the next day. They said it was the end of St. Louis as a pennant threat in 1950. Brooklyn had landed a knockout blow at St. Louis morale. They never would bounce back.

Cards Are Hot

Next time the Cards played a game they rallied with six in the eighth inning to knock out Warren Spahn and whip Boston. The next victim was the Phillies' Robin Roberts.

And so on, down the line. Since the black day in Flatbush they have won nine of 11, hotter than any club in the league. They left Brooklyn tied for third, three games out of first. Now they're second, one game behind Brooklyn.

This second western swing of the Brooks can be most important. By whipping St. Louis three straight at Brooklyn they turned back the Card threat for the moment. By sweeping the Phillies doubleheader from St. Louis, they repelled another threat. If they can get out of St. Louis with their lead intact, they may be able to pull away and take command.

Leo on Spot

The trip is important for Leo Durocher's New York Giants, too, in a different sort of way. The Polo Ground wolves are howling for Leo's scalp although his contract runs through 1951. Going into tonight the two-night doubleheader at Cincinnati, the Giants are running a dreary seventh, nine games off the pace.

Chicago, still two games over the 500 mark, is first stop on the defeated Phillies who were knocked from first to third Tuesday. After Chicago, the Phils' bump smack into St. Louis for three very important games.

Boston finds Pittsburgh, reeling under an eight-game losing streak, Ralph Kiner's home run production slowed down to a walk with only one in the last 10 days. If the Braves are to move in the race, now is their time with Sid Gordon back in the lineup.

Trade in Limestone

American League box scores will be studied for the next few days to find the effects of the big Chicago Washington deal.

The White Sox move into the white glare of the Yankee Stadium spotlights for a night game with New York which has won 17 of its last 20. After cooling off Boston with a Decoration Day sweep, Casey Stengel is in fine shape to open a long stand against the west. Eddie Robinson, covered by the Yanks during the winter, is to go first for Chicago. Ray Scarborough and Al Kousser also are to be with the club.

Washington will parade its new stock—second baseman Cass Michaels, outfielder Johnny Ostrowski and pitcher Bob Kuzava before the home folks. Kuzava isn't supposed to start against St. Louis tonight but the others may see action. Both leagues had an open date yesterday.

cinna advanced yesterday along with Budge Patey of Los Angeles and Victor Seixas of Philadelphia.

In women's competition, America's hopes will be carried by Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Mrs. Margaret Osborne duPont of Wilmington, Del., on the one hand and Doris Hart of Jacksonville, Fla., and Shirley Fry of Akron, O., on the other.

Phils Only Club With Increase in 1950 Attendance

New York, June 1 (AP)—Whether it's the weather, television or lack of ready cash, baseball attendance continues to dip.

Last year the average attendance for a major league game through April and May was 18,123. This year it's 15,714. That represents a 13 per cent decline.

At this date a year ago the two majors had drawn a total of 5,056,425 as compared to 3,928,509. This is a 22 per cent drop. However, the clubs have been able to play only 250 home dates this spring compared to 279 last year.

Only club of the 16 majors to show an increase, despite all difficulties, is the Philadelphia Phillies. Buoyed by the fine early showing of Eddie Sawyer's crew, the Phils attracted 219,773 at home in their first 14 dates. Last year they had 210,785 for 19 dates. True, the increase is not startling but it is an increase.

The New York Giants are 200,000 behind but have five more dates to play before they will be even in games with the fine 1949 record.

Judge Cashin Wins Flag Day Tourney

Judge John M. Cashin won first prize in the annual Flag Day golf tournament at Twaikskill Golf Club on Memorial Day.

The judge wound up on the 20th green, 15 feet from the cup, with his allotted 14 strokes. First place was worth $10 in cash.

Dr. Robert P. Moseley was in the cup on the 19th green with 18 strokes handicap.

Other results:

Gus Meskin, 11 handicap, 35 feet from 19th cup; Ed Rembert, 7 handicap, 20 feet from cup on 20th green; Bud Culliton, 12 handicap, on 19th fairway with drive; Ed O'Reilly, 20 handicap, in the cup on the 18th hole.

Lew Smith, tournament chairman, was 15 feet from the cup on the 18th hole with a 10 stroke handicap. Bud O'Reilly also crashed the prize list, landing 30 feet from the cup on the 18th green. He carried an 18 handicap.

Costello Captures Wiltwyck Flag Play

Bill Costello, playing from a 14 handicap, fired a fine 81 to cop the first flag tournament of the 1950 season at Wiltwyck Memorial Day. Costello had his flag planted six inches from the cup on the 18th hole.

Three other players scored well enough to have strokes to tee off the 19th. Herm Gottfried, Leon Winne and Bill Schaffrick set up their flags 235, 220 and 205 yards respectively off the 19th.

Louis G. Bruhn and Jim Turk each ended up squarely in the 18th cup. The prize-winner, list was completed by four men whose stroke allowance brought them to within a couple feet of the 18th cup. They were Ernie LeFevre, C. E. Burnett, George Swirsky and Ad Schultz.

A second flag event is scheduled for July 4.

Catholic Softball To Open Tonight

The C.Y.O. Softball League, Senior Division, will open tonight with a three game schedule at Block, Hasbrouck and St. Mary's Parks. All games are slated for 7 o'clock.

Tonight's schedule is as follows:

Immaculate Conception vs. St. Mary's Hasbrouck.

St. Colman's vs. St. Peter's, St. Mary's.

Holy Name of Wilbur vs. St. Joseph's, Block.

Winners of the Ulster county league will meet Dutchess and Orange county winners for the upstate championship. Winners of the upstate title will then battle for the archdiocesan crown.

Southpaw Hurls Neat Two-Hit Shutout

Behind the crafty two-hit hurling of Lefty Bud Swarthout, Chezz Emile vaulted into first place in the City Baseball League Wednesday night with a resounding 10 to 0 shutout of Wiltwyck Motors.

The Motormen, in going down to their second straight setback, didn't help their own cause by committing four costly errors good for five unearned runs by the Chezzies.

But with Swarthout mowing his opponents in good order the winners only needed their first run in the opening frame to pack away the game. They added two more in the third, three in the fourth and four in the bottom half of the sixth before the affair was called due to darkness.

Albany and Brown divided the chukking for the Motormen and only dished up five hits to the winners. Albany was touched for three hits and six runs in last three and two-thirds innings of the game. Albany gave up two bingles and four runs in an inning and two-thirds. Albany was charged with the loss.

The Chezzies pushed over their first marker in the initial frame when Barnes reached on an error, stole second and raved home on an error and a fly ball to center.

Bill Glaser's single to center with the bases loaded gave the winners another brace of runs in the third after an error and a couple of walks set the stage.

Chezz Emile made it 6-0 in the fourth when Lowe walked, pilfered second and rode home on Swarthout's one-buster to center. Swarthout, trying to take second on the throw in was cut down when Albany cut the throw off and threw the hurler out at second.

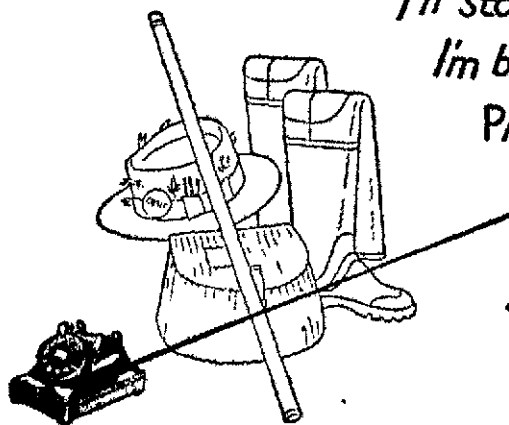

An error, a walk, a single by Vertetis and a delayed double

Drivers Divide Melon

Indianapolis, June 1 (AP)—Race car owners and drivers divided up a record $201,035 in prizes today from the fastest—and the shortest—race at the Indianapolis motor speedway.

"Boy, I never had it so good," crowed Johnny Parsons, pocketing the $57,458.63 top prize at the 500-mile victory dinner last night

New York State Women's Bowling Champions

This isn't the Yale crew. It's the fabulous American Bowling and Billiards team of New York, first repeat champions in the 17-year history of the New York State Women's tournament. They posted a 2800 series with games of 840, 931 and 1029. In 1949 they shot 2870 in Buffalo. The team personnel includes left to right, Irene Richards (518) Thelma Cuorzo (622), second in the all-events 1949, Mary Brady, Ann Sabolowski (622), Ellen Despong (535) and Capt. Jean Mickey Michaels (512). Miss Michaels won the singles crown with 622. (Photo by Runkel)

GUSSE'S FASHION—A sketch by Paris fashion designer Pierre Balmain (and an artist's post-up of Gusse's face) gives us a preview of how tennis star Gertrude (Gorgeous Gusse) Moan will look at Wimbledon, England, in June. Balmain designed this all-over pleated tennis dress, with matching panties under a swirling "butterfly" skirt, for Gusse, who has previously stirred sports circles by appearing in lace-trimmed panties and later in unconventional black shorts.

Warns Slow Golfers

New York, June 1 (AP)—Plagued by increasing slowness of play, the U. S. Golf Association is in a state of mind to do something pretty drastic about the problem at the National Open championship at Merion next week. There might be a summary disqualification or two, or at least some painful stroke penalties, unless the boys quit doing a "civil engineering" job on each shot, warns Joe Dwyer, executive secretary of the ruling body.

Acheson Session

that this country spend $1,225,000,000 in a second year effort to help western Europe against the threat of communism. He talked yesterday of the need for this country to take the lead in strengthening the collective military forces of the United States and Atlantic Pact Nations.

As a report on Acheson's conference with British, French and other foreign ministers, Lucas said he was pleased with the proceedings.

He added that he believed the questions asked by lawmakers on the whole had been "fair" although Acheson obviously was somewhat lured by queries of Rep. Rankin (D-Miss.) and Rep. Judd (R-Minn.)

Rankin observed that Trygve Lie, secretary general of the United Nations, seemed to be backing a move to gain U. N. admission for Communist China. Wasn't that like a "known Communist" Rankin asked.

Acheson replied firmly that Lie had made no secret of his belief that the Chinese Communists ought to be admitted. He gave no answer to Rankin's "Communist" query.

Judd wanted to know why Acheson didn't use his "total diplomacy" to prevent the election of Nationalist China from the U. N.

Acheson replied he had told Judd his position a thousand times—that this country would not veto the admission of the Chinese Communists but would let the majority decide what to do about them.

Attend Dinner for Opening of Salvation Drive

Religious, civic and business leaders in attendance at the dinner for the opening of the Salvation Army financial drive last night were (l. to r.) Capt. George Gibb, local commander of the Salvation Army, Pratt Bolce, banker, advisory board chairman; Edmund V. Burhans, parole officer for Ulster county, guest speaker, Dr. John Comstock, dentist, chairman of the drive; Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk; Major Samuel Toft, divisional commander of the Army for this area. (Freeman Photo)

Salvation Army Work Praised at Dinner for Funds

At Wednesday evening's kick-off dinner for the Salvation Army financial drive to raise $6,000, Captain George Gibb outlined the work of his Kingston corps among adults and young people of all faiths.

Captain Gibb was introduced by Dr. John A. Comstock, chairman of the drive, to the group of religious, civic and business leaders at the dinner held in the Stuyvesant Hotel.

The Salvation Army has a program of religious classes for young people and adults as well as recreation projects all planned on a basis of character building to help those who participate to become strong in their faith and better American citizens.

The Army's program calls for the services of 34 volunteer workers in the senior division and seven in the junior division. It caters to 584 persons, the captain said.

There is also a camp program for Protestants, Catholics and Jews, he stressed, and pointed out that the cooperation of the entire community is needed to successfully carry on the drive to raise the $6,000.

Senior Major Samuel Toft, divisional commander for the Hudson river area, pointed out that the aim of William Booth in founding the Salvation Army was to help others. As his goal and slogan was "Others," so it is today with members of the organization. He was accompanied by Captain James Henderson.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk praised Dr. Comstock for his interest in the Salvation Army drive and called upon all citizens to contribute generously to help the cause which is beneficial to the community.

The mayor also expressed his pleasure over the choice of a local Salvation Army member to attend the International Youth Conference in London this year. Dr. Comstock referred to the Army's program as one of tolerant Christian charity in helping all those in need regardless of race, creed or color. "We are definitely helping others when we help the Salvation Army," he said.

Edmund Burhans, chief probation officer of Ulster county, introduced by Attorney Roger H. Loughran, told of his first introduction to the Salvation Army as an overseas soldier in World War I, and of the good that the organization has been doing.

"It was a real touch of the U. S. over there," he said, "as its workers gave one a pat on the back and spoke words of encouragement."

As a probation officer he credited the Salvation Army with working with youth, where real help is needed. "It is the organization that keeps youth off the streets, encourages study of the Bible, and cares for children handicapped by broken homes. The work of the Salvation Army will reap benefits for generations to come."

"The Army gives spiritual, mooral and physical help and we must support its program. This appeal should go over, the top. The people of the community must realize that the Salvation Army is doing a job today that will live for years."

Dr. Comstock called on workers at the dinner to assume the responsibility of enlisting the services of other workers and of telling the story of the Salvation Army to the whole community.

"We must give Captain Gibb and his organization our wholehearted support"

VENISON IS GIVEN TO CHILDREN'S HOME

The Children's Home on East Chester street gained a supply of venison following highway mishaps in the area yesterday and early today.

Jacob J. Berinato, 2 North Wilbur avenue, notified police at 1:40 a. m., that his car struck a deer near Leher's Restaurant on the Boulevard, and the other was struck by a car at West Hurley yesterday.

The doe struck by Berinato was found dead about 200 feet south of Leher's by Officers Thomas Tomshaw and Henry Ronnenberg, after Berinato was unable to locate it in the darkness.

The doe struck at West Hurley came in contact with a car west of the Woodstock road on the Onteora Trail. The name of the driver was not available today.

The venison for the home was placed in cold storage, a conservation department official said.

The ancient consulted the birds for the purpose of forestalling the outcome of all important undertakings.

Showers Reduce Fires

Halifax, N. S., June 1 (AP)—Showers last night reduced the Canadian fire hazard from Manitoba to New Brunswick but a monster blaze continued to plague Nova Scotia. Eastern Halifax county was the scene of the worst outbreak. A big blaze has destroyed some 35,000 acres of spruce in three days and still was burning furiously yesterday. The outbreak already has caused more damage than all Nova Scotia forest fires in 1949. Some 1,500 men were fighting the blaze and Forest Minister A. W. Mackenzie made a personal appeal for co-operation by the public.

Bigger Than Earth
The head of Halley's comet is much larger than the earth. On May 5, 1910, the length of the comet's tail was reported to be 37,000,000 miles.
